PHILLIES TIE IT UP IN FIFTH

Cravath and Luderus Slam Out Pair of Doubles and Game Threatens Extra Frames

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—George Foster, the smallest pitcher in baseball, this afternoon won single-handed the second game of the world's series from Philadelphia, 2 to 1.

Picture, if you can about as tense a moment as the grand old game ever saw—the ninth inning, score tied, 1 and 1, two out and the winning run awaiting on second base. Then if your imagination still is revolving, put a pitcher who has chucked as brainy and clever a game as a world's series ever saw, at bat. That man was George Foster. And Foster sent a screaming single on a sizzling line over second base and Gardner came in with the run that boosted Boston's stock about 100 per cent.

Today's game was full of those tense moments. One side was always threatening to break up the game, but never quite succeeding. Foster pitched probably the best game ever seen by a world's series crowd, and certainly the best game that President Wilson ever saw or probably ever will see.

The little Bostonian held the far famed Philly wrecking crew to three hits, two of which, however, came in the fifth inning and resulted in Philadelphia's lone marker. Cravath, in that inning, had led off with a screeching double which Duffy Lewis did well to hold to less than three bases. Fred Luderus, who, outside of Cravath, is the most feared member of Moran's crew, doubled to center field wall and Cravath came home in a walk.

Mayer, with whom Moran had hoped to cross the Red Sox board of strategy, pitched erratic ball. He was in hot water in the first inning and was plainly nervous. He got away badly by walking Hooper. Scott died an easy death, and successive singles by Speaker and Hobby, aided by an error by Burns, allowed the first marker of the game to come across. With that one run advantage to bolster him up, Foster pitched like a fiend.

For four innings not a Philly reached first base, five of them dying by strike-outs.

If Boston doesn't stick George Foster's monument on the Commons, it ought to. Foster made as many hits as he allowed the Phillies—three.

President Wilson and Mrs. Galt, arrived at Phillies park at 2:04 this afternoon to witness the second world's series game. A mighty cheer swept the stadium as the president and Mrs. Galt made their way to a flag bedecked box reserved for them.

The beautiful first lady of the land smiled pleasantly in response to cheers. The president bowed and doffed his hat and agreeably posed for an army of photographers. At their request he and Mrs. Galt stood facing each other and smiling into each other's eyes while the cameras clicked.

President Wilson then presented his fiancee to MayorBlankenburg and President Baker of the Phillies. The game was delayed four minutes awaiting the arrival of the party. The president showed extreme good nature but photographers became so persistent that he stood up and, shaking his hand at them, shooed the camera men away. They had been snapping the president and Mrs. Galt for a good five minutes.

There was also a ball game—the second one of the title series between the Phillies and the Red Sox—but nobody evinced much interest. The president's fiancee was here.

The person who seemed most interested in the ball game was Bill Klam, the demon umpire-in-chief, but even he turned his back to the struggling athletes and sneaked a couple of looks at the president's fiancee.

Speaker showed the crowd some slugging during practice. Jack Barry did some flashy second basing, Dave Bancroft opened up a new bag of tricks. Nobody saw them. Nobody applauded.

The president's fiancee was here. In vain did the athletes strike "Napoleonic" poses. Nothing doing—the photographers would have none of them. A picture of a ball player can be taken any day.

First Inning

BOSTON—Hooper up. Ball one, wide. The game was halted while the first ball thrown out by the president was returned to him. Strike one called. Strike two called. Ball two, wide. Foul. Ball three. Hooper walked. Scott up. Scott fouled to Luderus. Speaker up. Strike one called. Foul, strike two. Ball one. Ball two. Foul. Ball three, wide. Speaker fouled. Foul. Speaker singled to right, Hooper taking third. Hoblitzell up. Strike one. Ball one. Speaker out, stealing, Burns to Niehoff. Hooper scored. Burns dropping the ball at the plate. It was an error for Burns. Ball two. Strike two. Hobby singled to center. Lewis up. Strike one. Hobby out, stealing, Burns to Niehoff. ONE RUN. TWO HITS. ONE ERROR.

The president showed excellent control when he tossed out the ball with which play was opened. Hat in hand, Umpire Rigler then handed it back to him after Mayer's first effort. The Red Sox then began bombarding.

PHILADELPHIA—Stock up. Ball one. Strike one. Stock out, Scott to Hobby. Bancroft up. Ball one. Ball two. Strike one called. Strike two swung. Ball three. Fanned. Paskert up. Strike one called. Ball one. Strike two called. Paskert out, Barry to Foster. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERROR.

Hobby got an assist on the play on Paskert. He knocked the Philly center fielder's hot one down but could not hold it. It then rolled back to Barry, who nailed it. The president and Mrs. Galt were intently interested in the game and watched every play closely.

Second Inning

BOSTON—Lewis up. Strike one called. Ball one. Strike two called. Foul. Lewis fanned. Gardner up. Ball one. Strike one called. Gardner singled to left. Barry up. Ball one. Foul, strike one. Foul, strike two. Barry fanned, swung. Thomas up. Strike one called. Thomas out, Mayer to Luderus. NO RUNS. ONE HIT. NO ERRORS.

Mayer had settled in this inning and was bending them over for the Red Sox batsmen with terrific speed. Both Lewis and Barry swung hard for the third strike.

PHILADELPHIA — Cravath up. Strike one called. Ball one. Strike two, swung. Cravath fanned, swung. Four pitched balls. Luderus up. Ball one. Foul, strike one. Foul, strike two. Fanned, swung. Whit-

TAX RATE LOWER IN NEW BUDGET FOR COMING YEAR

Twenty-one Mills Is Figure Set by City Comptroller William J. Fries

EXPENSES $63,207 LESS FOR 1916

Mahoney Opens the Fight Against the New Traffic "Cops" as Unlawful

It will cost approximately $647,286.02 to run the city of La Crosse during 1916, according to the budget. The amount will be approximately $63,207 less than expenses of the city this year.

The city's income other than taxes will be approximately $161,114. The tax rate will be twenty-one mills, one mill less than last year. The city's income next year will be approximately $9,000 more than this year.

These figures were presented to the city council last night by City Comptroller William J. Friese. They made up the budget of proposed appropriations for La Crosse for 1916. The council referred the budget to the finance committee. It will be acter upon at the November meeting.

October 22 N. H. S. Meet

The next meeting of the council will be held October 22. The members will adjourn and go into a meeting of the committee of the whole to discuss the two propositions of north side aldermen for raising funds for the erection of the proposed north side high school, long in debate. The meeting was called on the motion of Alderman Dr. A. R. Kempter.

Alderman Kempter's plan to raise $50,000 by placing $25,000 in the annual budget for two years and Alderman Paul W. Mahoney's plan to raise $125,000 by an issue of ten-year serial bonds will be threshed out.

Councilmen last night brought to a conclusion the five-year-old fight for street lights in the vicinity of La Crosse state normal school. Illuminators were ordered for Seventeenth and State streets and Twenty-second and State streets.

Alderman Bert C. Smith introduced an amendment limiting the lights to one at the Seventeenth street corner. He later withdrew the amendment after a speech by Alderman A. P. Funk.

Alderman Mahoney endeavored to start something early in the evening, when he branded the city's employment of seventeen police as illegal under the city charter. The question of the legality of the hiring of two new "cops," used in the traffic squad at Fourth and Main streets arose when bills containing their salaries came up for passage.

Bentley Supports Traffic Cops

Mayor A. A. Bentley maintained that the city's growth warranted the employment of the two men and he said they were needed to enforce traffic regulations on the busy downtown corner.

"According to the charter," said Alderman Mahoney, "the city is al-

Students at Meeting

Several members of the class in civics from the high school were given five minutes last night in which to fire questions at the city "dads" and they took advantage of the opportunity. Alderman William Torrance and City Attorney J. E. Higbee and others were appointed a committee to entertain the visitors by Mayor Bentley. The committee reported on the session with the students favorably.

BADGER MILITIA HIGHLY PRAISED BY ARMY CHIEF

General King Tells of Big Compliment from Major General Wood in Official Document

URGES POSSIBILITY OF WAR

Better Support of the Civilian Soldiers Is Urged by the Famous Soldier

"(Circular No. 4)
"War Department,
"Office of the Chief of Staff,
"Division of Militia Affairs,
"Washington, March 13,1914.

"The following corrections in the report of the chief, division of military affairs, for the year 1913, are published for the information of all concerned:

"(1) Table XXV, page 246, giving the statement showing the result of rifle practice for the year 1912 is in error in the case of the state of Wisconsin.

"The table shows:

"Total firing rifle, 467.

"Percentage of total strength armed with rifle, firing the rifle, 16.53.

"These figures should be:

"Total firing rifle, 2,651.

"Percentage of total strength armed with the rifle, firing the rifle, 93.81.

"This error is especially regretted in view of the fact that the organized militia of the state of Wisconsin may be taken as a model in the matter of training, equipment and business administration.

"By order of the secretary of war:
"LEONARD WOOD,
"Major General, Chief of Staff."

After reading the above letter from the highest military authority in the United States, General Charles King last night said to his audience at La Crosse theater:

"For fifty-five years I have worn the uniform of the United States, and in all that time I have never known of a compliment so great as this being paid the militia of any state."

Fowler Recalls Old Prophecy

In introducing General King Capt. F. H. Fowler of Company M, referring to the uncertainty of peace, recalled how in an address to the Nineteenth Century club, six years before the Spanish-American war, he had predicted that the United States would be engaged in war within ten years, and how he was reproached by his hearers for a thought the barbarity of which they deemed not in keeping with the civilizaton of the times.

General King explored American history to show two things—the constant possibility of war and the incompetence of even the bravest untrained volunteers suddenly precipitated into actual warfare.

Urges Support

He earnestly urged the importance of the militia, which he said the government was prepared to enlarge and to give better pay, and he deplored the fact that parents and employers are inclined to discourage enlistment and to make difficult fulfilment of obligations by enlisted militiamen. He closed with a strong appeal for better support of the militia.

General King faced a good sized audience, the front rows being occupied by members of Companies B and M, in uniform.

Twenty prominent citizens were on the stage with General King.

SPARTA MAN IS MAT FOR SOPH DINNER AT MINNEAPOLIS COLLEGE

Neil Pilcher, Sparta, Wis., well-known in La Crosse for his oratorical ability, was a foot-mat for several dozen elated sophomores of Hamline college at their annual class banquet last night at Minneapolis. Pilcher is president of the freshman class.

When the sophs sat down to their annual feast the freshmen descended in a body, determined to break up the party. They were beaten back and Pilcher, their leader, captured. He was wrapped in a table-cloth and bound hand and foot, being then placed under the table for safe-keeping while the sophs dined.

The overcoat of George Taylor, a freshman football man, was also captured by the victorious sophomores, and it formed the central table decoration of the dinner.

Pilcher won the district oratorical contest in La Crosse last year from local men, and took th ird place in the state contest.

ART EXHIBIT TO REMAIN IN CITY OVER WEEK-END

Wisconsin Painters' Collection at Library Will Be Open to View Tonight and Tomorrow

Arrangements have been made through the interest and kindly cooperation of Miss Lillian Boreson to have the art exhibit open to the public all of this afternoon and evening and tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon and evening, from two to six and from seven to nine.

This is an opportunity for La Crosse to see this excellent exhibit of the best of Wisconsin's art; for on account of the numerous meetings of the State Federation of Woman's clubs—who brought us the exhibit—the public has had little opportunity to see the pictures.

We are especially fortunate in being able to see this exhibit at this time, for Madison urged her claim to have it first, since she was the prime mover in its organization. It is to go from here to Madison.

Especial notice should be given to the etchings. While but two artists are represented, the work is of a very high quality—well up in the professional class. This is particularly true of the two etchings by Katherine Merrill, now of New York city.

Dudley Crafts Watson, director of the Milwaukee Art society says of the exhibit:

"Wisconsin cannot be too lavish in the applause they accord their artists, and their applause will bring forth much more. The collection known as 'The Traveling Collection,' is one of the finest groups of pictures ever shown in the northwest."

BALKANS NEARER WAR AS BULGARIAN ENVOY LEAVES NISH

Action, It Is Presumed, May Have Been Incited by Developments of the Past Week

BOTH SIDES CLAIM VICTORY

Serbs Say They Have Inflicted Defeat on Teutons in Rush on Railroad

LONDON, Oct. 9.—German troops have captured the greater part of Belgrade, Servia, it was admitted here today.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Another step was taken in the Balkans toward war today, when the Bulgarian minister to Nish left Serbia. Whether or not his action was taken at the suggestion of his government is not known. It is presumed that events of the past week have justified the minister in leaving the country.

Claims of Serbian success, contained in Paris dispatches today, are refuted by dispatches from Vienna. The Serbs claim a decisive defeat of the Austro-Germans in an attempted rush on the Belgrade-Constantinople railroad. Vienna claims that Teutonic forces have crossed the Danube, Save and Lower Drina rivers in spite of spirited resistance on the part of the Serbians.

Amsterdam advices say that Kaiser Wilhelm will soon leave for the Serbian front and that Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria will act as his own commander-in-chief in the present war. War Minister Jekoff, it is understood, will serve as field commander.

The bulk of the Bulgarian cavalry, Athens dispatches state, officered by many Germans and strongly supported by artillery, was concentrating at Kostendil, about fifteen miles from the Serbian frontier.

WOLFE TO BECOME U. S. ATTORNEY IN AYLWARD'S PLACE

Elevation of Madison Man to Bench Means Place for Prominent Local Democrat

WOLFE HAS BUT LITTLE TO SAY

District Attorneyship Is the Post He Would Like, He Admits; Wise Ones Say It's Arranged

In announcement of the pending appointment of John A. Aylward of Madison to the federal bench as successor of the late Judge Seaman, local men "in the know" today saw the descent of Mr. Aylward's mantle of the United States district attorney upon William F. Wolfe, prominent democrat. Definite announcement that Mr. Aylward's designation will come from Washington within a few days was made late yesterday.

La Crosse men prominent in both republican and democratic parties today said that Mr. Wolfe's appointment as successor of Mr. Aylward as district attorney for the western section of the state is practically assured. Mr. Wolfe was prominently mentioned for the place before it was conferred upon the Madison attorney.

"I don't know anything about it," Mr. Wolfe told a reporter this morning. "I had not seen the announcement that Mr. Aylward is to succeed Judge Seaman. Mr. Aylward is an able lawyer and will make a good man for the circuit court of appeals, which is becoming one of the most powerful and important of the federal courts.

Will Accept Office

"My name has been mentioned for several federal appointments," Mr. Wolfe said when questioned about the district attorneyship. "But most of them I should not have wanted because they are not in the line of my work. But the district attorney's office is one that I should be glad to fill, because it is legal business right in line with my profession."

Mr. Wolfe refused any further comment.

Mr. Aylward has for years been a leading democrat of Wisconsin. He was for several years a law partner of Joseph E. Davies, who is chairman of the federal trade commission, national democratic committeeman from Wisconsin and was one of the leaders in the Wilson campaign for the presidency three years ago.

Davies Wins Out

When the vacancy occurred on the bench, Mr. Aylward became a candidate for the position and his candidacy was urged by Mr. Davies and other influential democrats of Wisconsin. United States Senator Paul O. Husting would not support Mr. Aylward and recommended the appointment of Judge Martin Lueck of the circuit court for Dodge county.

Friends of both candidates presented qualifications of the two men to the attorney general of the United States, who, according to custom, recommends appointment of federal judges. Efforts to secure the withdrawal of Judge Lueck or Mr. Aylward were unsuccessful.

Friends of Mr. Aylward charged Senator Husting with ingratitude for refusing to support Mr. Aylward because Mr. Aylward had withdrawn from the race for the democratic nomination for United States senator after having announced his candidacy for the nomination because he wanted democratic harmony. This action on the part of Mr. Aylward, his friends claim, enabled Senator Husting to secure the nomination and election.

Gieger Was Urged

Friends of Judge F. A. Geiger of Milwaukee, United States district judge, and of Judge John Barnes of the Wisconsin supreme court, suggested for the position, declared that he was not a candidate and would not accept it. All efforts to secure a united recommendation of the leading democrats of Wisconsin for one candidate failed and the contest between Mr. Aylward and Judge Lueck to the last.

Mrs. Aylward Club Leader

Mr. Aylward is about 50 years old and has a wife and three children. Mrs. Aylward is a prominent member of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs and took an active part in the club convention which closed here yesterday.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THE TRESPASSER

BY EMILY FONTAINE

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"He doesn't even realize that he's trespassing," Laurette said laughingly, bending forward in the tonneau to get a better view of the camp down in the ravine. "Isn't he cozy and nice down there, dad?"

Janeway stood up to get a line on the camp's situation. The stranger was a good picker. He had taken up his quarters just above the trout pool under some huge hemlocks, with a break in the hill on the far side to give him a fair view.

"I passed him yesterday coming from the postoffice," went on Laurette. "He's tall and looks entirely guileless, dad; not a bit as if he had done it on purpose to annoy anybody. Are you going to send Philips down to warn him off?"

"Have to before Yerrington arrives. He couldn't put up with anything of that sort. I've promised him absolute seclusion and privacy. Nobody's even to know that he's here."

"It must be horrible, being so celebrated that you can't even take a vacation in comfort or let anybody else. I dread to have him come at all."

"No need, my dear. Very nice sort of chap, very. You'd never think he'd been governor to look at him. Gad, I've seen him get up myself in the senate, when they put him over in Washington, and he looked like a boy beside the rest there, but he could hand it to them just the same."

That night a telegram came to the big country house calling Colonel Janeway back to Boston. Laurette and her mother watched him leave with misgivings. Mrs. Janeway felt her responsibility heavily, but Laurette was amused.

"Mother dear, he can't be very formidable. We'll just be very charming to him and leave him to himself till dad gets back."

The following morning she took her own little French roadster and went for a spin up Mount Ratanac, the somber cone of forestland that lifted itself behind Meadowdale and its valley beauties. It was a new car and it misbehaved. Perhaps her hands were unaccustomed to the new levers, perhaps the sudden sight in the road of the stranger unnerved her, but her sight seemed blurred as the car sped downhill toward the ravine on the return trip. She saw the figure of a man and pressed the wrong lever. Instead of the brake, the car clipped into high speed; and before she knew it she had struck him.

The car swerved, but she had her foot on the brake now and stopped short. He lay face downward at the side of the road—the trespasser. She knew him even before she knelt beside him and lifted his head to her knee afraid to look upon its deathlike calm. But he opened his eyes and looked up at her.

"The irresponsible sex," he murmured. "You may lay me down, if you please. It's the shoulder and collarbone."

Under his orders she went for help to the nearest house in the machine. Somehow it seemed quite natural for her to take his orders. She never questioned him, but when she returned with two of her father's men from the lower farm they took her orders. He was taken straight up to the great house and put to bed, and a surgeon was called over the long distance wire. Mrs. Janeway hovered around nervously.

"My dear, my dear, what will your father say?" she said. "And the senator expected any time."

"We'll tell the senator the truth and he'll help keep him amused," answered Laurette blithely. "Really, mother, he's very nice. The doctor tells me he is a college man."

"Did he also tell you why he has chosen to camp out on your father's land without permission?"

"Now, mother, darling, don't be inhospitable," Laurette coaxed, and won. Mrs. Janeway had been a Carlton of Georgia. She would gladly have entertained Lucifer rather than have been thought inhospitable.

So the stranger stayed, well cared for, for three days, and on the fourth Col. Janeway returned with Senator Yerrington. The senator was worn out and thoroughly glad to have escaped pursuit, as he put it. He was sure of a perfect rest for at least a week. Laurette told the stranger when she carried up his afternoon papers to him. He seemed to live on the papers, and had told them his name was Bob Edwards. He was sitting up, leaning on his good elbow, when she came in, and his face was eager.

"Has he come?" he asked.

"My father? Yes, he just got in with the senator.

"Oh, Lord!" he dropped back weakly, and looked up at her with imploring eyes. "I hate to be beaten in a thing like this. If you had known enough to press the right brake it wouldn't have happened. Will you tell the senator I've got to see him?"

"You have?"

"Please, please," he begged. "If you don't, I'll get up and go to him and probably get a beautiful fever and die on your hands. I'd love to die here, Laurette. Why don't you make a perfect deal of it and kill me outright?"

"I think you're horribly ungrateful." Laurette tried to be grieved and rather aloof. It was hard when one's hand is held prisoner, pressed close to another's lips. "You were a trespasser in the first place——"

"And the last. I'm a tresspasser now. Probably as soon as your father and the senator hear why I came they'll call an ambulance and hustle me off to the nearest hospital. Listen, dear— do you mind awfully much if I call you dear just once or twice?—I came deliberately and camped deliberately to get a personal interview with Senator Yerrington. He dodged every newspaper man on the way up from Washington, and even I lost his trail after we left Boston. Thought he was coming straight on and he sidetracked to some relative in Keene. Will you bring him up here to see me?"

Laurette's brown eyes shone with mischief. It was just the sort of lark she loved. Indeed, she would bring the senator up to see her invalid. And when he came and Edwards lay back on the pillows, boyish and white, and pleaded for what he had come for, she added her own argument until the senator handed over his own pencil and sat down by the bed willingly.

Two weeks later they walked together down past the ravine slowly reluctantly, silently, just at the end of the final day. Col. Janeway liked him and had insisted on his remaining until he was on his feet again. Both he and the senator had taken it as a good joke, the whole affair, but Laurette had changed. She was shy and kept out of his way. Never would she go up to the sick room after he could sit up. But now he had asked her to take one last stroll. They paused at a log bridge over a brook and looked down the green forest aisles.

"Did you know I'm going to work for your father—city editor on his Washington paper?" he asked.

Laurette nodded.

"I'll see you there this fall?"

Again the nod.

"You know, you're liable for damages," he added reflectively. "The collarbone is all right and the shoulder's better."

"Well, then?"

"Heart," said Bob oracularly. "Heart. Smashed. Can't be fixed."

She smiled at him teasingly, moving out of reach

Bob set his teeth. He had told the colonel and the colonel had given him the Washington position and wished him luck.

"You laid your cheek against my hand one day in the beginning when you thought I was asleep and, likely to die——"

"Oh, I didn't."

"You did. I was wide awake. Would you rather accept me now or wait until fall? I will ask you again in Washington. Every week I'll ask you and never believe you when you say no. How can I, remembering? I think you ran over me on purpose, marking me for your own. Shaw says woman is the pursuer. Oh, dear heart, don't let me tease you." His arms reached for her eagerly.

"You'll always believe I meant to run you down," Laurette declared.

"I hope you did," he answered fervently.

HEAL YOUR SKIN WITH RESINOL

It Stops Itching Instantly, and Clears Away Unsightly Eruptions.

If your skin itches and burns with eczema or any such tormenting, unsightly skin disease, simply wash the sore places with Resinol Soap and hot water, dry, and apply a little Resinol Ointment. The itching stops INSTANTLY, you no longer have to dig and scratch, sleep becomes possible, and healing begins at once. That is because the soothing, antiseptic Resinol medication strikes right into the surface, arrests the action of the disease, and almost always restores the tortured, inflamed skin to perfect health—quickly, easily and at little cost.

Prescribed by doctors for twenty years, and sold by every druggist.

A GOOD WAY TO SHAMPOO

Shampoo with Resinol Soap, rubbing its lather thoroughly into the scalp, so as to work in the soothing, healing Resinol medication. This almost always stops dandruff and scalp itching, and keeps the hair live, thick and lustrous.

MILLION AND HALF BUSHELS OF GRAIN RAISED IN COUNTY

County Clerk's Annual Crop Statement Shows Grain Output Large; Fruit Growers Increase

BUTTER NETS SUM OF $859,581

Eleven Pounds of Butter Made in Creameries of County to One Made on Farms

Approximately a million and a half bushels of grains have been produced in La Crosse this year, according to the annual crop statement of County Clerk Bert A. Jolivette, made public today. The report shows an acreage in grains of all varieties of 86,594. Fruit growers produced 2,064 bushels of apples and all farm products enumerated in the report show big yields.

The wheat output of the county is 32,107 bushels, a slight decrease over last year. Corn, oats and barley are the big grain yields. The raising of peas and potatoes is large.

The Report Follows

Wheat, 32,107 bushels; corn, 622,112 bushels; oats, 710,478 bushels; barley 143,220 bushels; rye, 48,128 bushels; buckwheat, 643 bushels; flaxseed, 200 bushels; potatoes, 141,121 bushels; peas, 24,574 bushels; apples, 2,064 bushels; strawberries, 7,854 bushels; respberries, 458 bushels; blackberries, 330 bushels; currants, 171 bushels; grapes, 275 bushels; clover seed, 1,292 bushels; timothy seed, 752 bushels.

Cabbages, 1, 141 1-2 tons; hay, 37,808 tons; alfalfa, 384 tons. Nearly 60,000 pounds of tobacco were raised.

Creameries Beat Farms

According to the report issued by the county clerk the amount of butter made in creameries as compared to the amount made on the farm is in the ratio of slightly more than 11 to 1, while 426 pounds of cheese is made in the cheese factories to every pound manufactured on the farm, showing a steady decrease in the amount of home-made cheese.

Butter Figures Big

The sale of butter during the year netted $859,581.68 while the sum of $25,082.61 was realized from the sale of cheese products.

The figures as compiled follow:

Creameries—Number, 7; value, $49,600; number of patrons contributory, 1,461; milk, 21,524,726 pounds; cream, 6,183,010.6 pounds; Number of pounds of butter made or condensed milk produced during the year, 2,924,421; amount of money received for products sold during year, $859,581.68.

Number of pounds made on the farm; butter, 265,392; value $72,219; cheese, 500, value $85.

Cheese factories—Number, 2; value, $1,800; number of patrons contributory, 31; milk, 2,025,796; number of pounds of cheese made during the year, 213,325; amount of money received for cheese products sold during the year, $25,082.61.

NORMAL LECTURE COURSE OFFERS GREAT VARIETY

Various Entertainments to Be Presented During Winter Are Among Best in Country

The list of attractions announced for the Normal Lecture Course include a considerable variety of entertainments. There is music, art, dramatic recital, an author recital, and finally nature lore. Mr. G. O. Shields, whose lecture upon wild animals and birds is illustrated by stereopticon views, has appeared before audiences in colleges, universities, and scientific institutes. He comes strongly recommended by David Starr Jordan, President of Stanford university; Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, and others.

President Jordan has this to say about Mr. Shields:

"Permit me to express to you our thanks for your lecture last night on "Wild Animals and Snow Slides in the Canadian Rockies." It was in every way most satisfactory. Your lantern slides have been chosen with rare skill and judgment; and the discussion with which you made the pictures clear is most interesting—never tedious, always to the point, and with a pleasant vein of humor. Above all, I wish to commend the work which you have done for the preservation of big game and of birds. There is scarcely an issue of greater importance before the American people, because if we do not save the birds and the game while they are living, we can never get them back again. The relation of birds to agriculture and horticulture is almost as vital as the necessity of water."

Mr. Shields is president of the League of American Sportsmen and besides is an author, hunter, explorer, and nature photographer.

BASEBALL FURY IS ABATING

The baseball interest of 1913 has not returned. Fans fan, but the intensity of the old excitement is gone. Perhaps the dissensions leading to the organization of the Federal league contributed to the slump in enthusiasm and, no doubt, war and moving pictures are a dual alliance at the hands of which the national game suffers. In any event, the condition must be charged largely to a division of interest, and probably something is chargeable to the contributory negligence of the vast and ever increasing army of automobile fans.

Baseball will live. Perhaps interest in it will revive to some extent, but with the growing diversity of amusements it can never fully recover its despotic sway over the American people. One contemplates its fading glory with a sense of loss, for the game is not the least wholesome of those great influences that mould and sway the democracy.

AN EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY

The Music Study club's announcement of Mrs. Collingwood Tucker's engagement, with possibly other of the rarer musical offerings, doubtless will interest a great many people. Those who are learned in music will know the attractions by the reputations of the performers, but to others less informed in matters musical the guidance of an organization of which the discrimination may be trusted is a special endorsement of the entertainments for which they assume responsibility.

The Music Study club is devoting the entire year to American music, and since most of us know more of the music of peoples from whom this country is recruited, the course adopted seems to have definite value. Mrs. Tucker's subject, our negro music, is typically American, for the American negro is a type distinct from the at most breech-clouted pal of the African chimpanzee. The subject suggests a still more primitive source—the music of the American Indian.

The club is not a money-making organization. Its aim is cultivation. In pursuit of this purpose it plans to afford the highest-priced attractions at popular rates, and it hopes only to pay expenses. We do not suggest support of its efforts as a duty. The individual to whom the appeal of such opportunities is not sufficiently urgent to win his presence probably will get little out of the experience and carry no message to others. Such musical treats should gather audiences of the class who react to the best things in our literature, art and music.

After all, no delegate to the convention of women's clubs reckoned without her hostess.

HE'LL TELL US ALL ABOUT THE WAR

Sunday afternoon, in the "Open Forum" of the Universalist church, Prof. L. P. Benezet will discuss "The History and Economic Conditions in Europe Which Led Up to the Present European War."

The announcement that Professor Benezet has prepared for his discussion by thorough historical research creates pleasant anticipations of information fundamental in the analysis of the war situation and of interesting side-lights upon it. In no sense is the meeting, an informal gathering of citizens, a church affair, and with Prof. Benezet's assurance that his utterances will not jeopardize the neutrality of the United States there arrives the conclusion that an audience of the best sort will be profitably entertained.

TWO MORE DAYS OF ART EXHIBIT

The announcement that the exhibit of the works of Wisconsin artists will remain at the public library for at least two more days is important. In the rush of engagements during the convention of women's clubs too little attention was paid to an attraction of at once a subject of state interest and state pride. We are assured by able critics that among these pictures are some excellent canvasses to see which is well worth the time of every citizen.

A PLEA FOR THE MILITIA

Those who expected that General Charles King would discuss the problem of national preparedness in a broad way were disappointed, or, perhaps, pleased. The veteran soldier and author did not assay the usual futile attempt to definitely solve our difficult situation. Rather he took up that phase of it which most personally concerns the citizen—militia service—and we hope that his appeal for better support of this organization of hearthstone guards will have a hearing.

The splendid compliment which General King read for the Wisconsin National guard was distinctly gratifying to the people of a city whose militia companies have ranked with the very best in the state organization.

Passing the Blame

We never blame the tailor when we

We never blame the shoe man when our shoes grow old and thin;
We never blame the hatter when our

But we always blame the laundry
when our shirts wear out.

We never blame the typist when she

We never blame the waitress when she serves a dirty plate,
But we always blame the home

—Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader.

We never blame the milkman when the milk is looking blue;
We never blame the cook when there is something in the

We never blame the butcher when the meat is high in cost,
But we always blame the household

No Fords Then

An ostentatious member of a certain county council, whose father is well known as a retired omnibus driver, was one day displaying a large seal he usually wears, representing St. George and the dragon, and while several of the bystanders were expressing their admiration of it, its owner remarked in solemn tones:

"Aw—one of my ancestors is—aw suposed to have killed the dragon—aw—don't you know?"

"Dear me," inquired one of his hearers, who knew something about him, "did he run over it?"

That Horrid Old Bank

"Ma, your bank account is overdrawn." "What does that mean, pa?" "Simply this: You've written checks for $13 more than was in the bank." "The idea! If $13 would break the bank I'd find another one to go business with. I supposed they had thousands of dollars on hand all the time."

Widely Known

"I want you to publish these poems in book form," said a seedy-looking man to a London publisher.

Publisher—I'll look over them, but I cannot promise to bring them out unless you have a well known name.

Poet—That's all right. My name is known wherever the English language is spoken.

"Ah! Indeed! What is your name?

"John Smith." — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Plenty of Covers

First Summer Hotel Boarder—I couldn't sleep last night for the cold. How did you manage?

Second Summer Hotel Boarder—Fine. We put the railroad ticket, the hotel folder and the proprietor's bill on the bed.—Judge.

Wanted to Be Sure

He had taken a transfer from the agent and started across to the other line when a sudden thought struck him and he turned back and asked for the agent.

"Is this ticket also a beer check?"

"Of course not," was the reply.

"Good for nothing except to ride somewhere else on?"

"That's all."

"No beer, soda or ice cream, eh?"

"Not a bit."

"All right—all right," mused the man as he turned away. "Stranger in town, you know—got to learn the ropes—don't want to miss a good thing. No beer—no soda—no ice cream. Guess I'll ride around and look for a line which has the interests of its patrons at heart."—Washington Herald.

The Curse of a Lazy Wife

A tourist in the mountains of Tennessee had dinner with a querulous old mountaineer, who yawned about hard times fifteen minutes at a stretch.

"Why, man," said the tourist, "you ought to be able to make lots of money shipping green corn to the northern markets."

"Yes, I orter," was the sullen reply.

"You have the land, I suppose, and can get the seed?"

"Yes, I guess so."

"Then why don't you go into the speculation?"

"No use, stranger," sadly replied the cracker; "the old woman is too lazy to do the plowin' and plantin'."—Washington Star.

A Common Failing

A couple of visitors from a rural district were in the strangers' gallery in the house of commons trying to recognize their member on the floor.

"I can't distinguish him," said one, after a hopeless visual observation.

"Of course not," was the honest reply. "He can't even distinguish himself."—Tit-Bits.

PROMOTE ADDAMS PEACE PLAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—Jane Addams' European peace plan, advocating the appointment of a "committee of forward-looking spirits" and avoidance of diplomats and international lawyers, will be discussed and framed definitely for action at International Peace congress which opens here tomorrow.

"Miss Addams," said L. P. Lochnar, national secretary of the association, "feels that diplomats and international lawyers had so much to do with getting the world in this mess that the best interests of peace plans are served by avoiding them."

The mind that is anxious about the future is miserable.—Seneca.

UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES ALL OVER FACE

Burning and Itching. Caused Much Loss of Sleep. Broke Out Over Body Also. Two Cakes Cuticura Soap and One Box Ointment Healed. Not a Scar Left.

808 N. 6th St., Springfield, Ill.—"Several months ago I was troubled with pimples all over my face. The breaking out was unsightly and the burning and itching caused me to scratch which irritated the pimples. They caused me to lose much sleep for they itched all night long. They disfigured me while they lasted. My face was very sore. The pimples then broke out all over my body also. My clothes felt uncomfortable.

"One day I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and was healed, and not a scar was left." (Signed) Carlyle C. Bryan, October 30, '14.

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations and promote skin and hair health generally.

KAZAN

By James Oliver Curwood

Author of The Danger Trail, The Honor of The Big Snows, Philip Steele, Etc.

Copyright 1914, The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

The cat's claws ripped through his flesh, cutting open his side— a little too high to kill. Another stroke and they would have cut his vitals. But they had struggled close to the edge of the rock wall, and suddenly, without a snarl or a cry, they rolled over. It was fifty or sixty feet to the rocks of the ledge below, and even as they pitched over and over in the fall, Kazan's teeth sank deeper. They struck with terrific force, Kazan uppermost. The shock sent him half a dozen feet from his enemy. He was up like a flash, dizzy, snarling, on the defensive. The lynx lay limp and motionless where it had fallen. Kazan came nearer, still prepared, and sniffed cautiously. Something told him that the fight was over. He turned and dragged himself slowly along the ledge to the trail, and returned to Gray Wolf.

Gray Wolf was no longer in the moonlight. Close to the two rocks lay the limp and lifeless little bodies of the three pups. The lynx had torn them to pieces. With a whine of grief Kazan approached the two boulders and thrust his head between them. Gray Wolf was there, crying to herself in that terrible sobbing way. He went in, and began to lick her bleeding shoulders and head. All the rest of that night she whimpered with pain. With dawn she dragged herself out to the lifeless little bodies on the rock.

And then Kazan saw the terrble worl of the lynx. For Gray Wolf was blind—not for a day or a night, but blind for all time. A gloom that no sun could break had become her shroud. And perhaps again it was that instinct of animal creation, which often is more wonderful than man's reason, that told Kazan what had happened. For he knew now that she was helpless—more helpless than the little creatures that had gamboled in the moonlight a few hours before. He remained close beside her all that day.

Vainly that day did Joan call for Kazan. Her voice rose to the Sun Rock, and Gray Wolf's head snuggled closer to Kazan, and Kazan's ears dropped back, and he licked her wounds. Late in the afternoon Kazan left Gray Wolf long enough to run to the bottom of the trail and bring up the snow-shoe rabbit. Gray Wolf muzzled the fur and flesh, but would not eat. Still a little later Kazan urged her to follow him to the trail. He no longer wanted to stay at the top of the Sun Rock, and he no longer wanted Gray Wolf to stay there. Step by step he drew her down the winding path away from her dead puppies. She would move only when he was very near her—so near that she could touch his scarred flank with her nose.

They came at last to the point in the trail where they had to leap down a distance of three or four feet from the edge of a rock, and here Kazan saw how utterly helpless Gray Wolf had become. She whined and crouched twenty times before she dared make the spring, and then she jumped stiff-legged, and fell in a heap at Kazan's feet. After this Kazan did not have to urge her so hard, for the fall impinged on her the fact that she was safe only when her muzzle touched her mate's flank. She followed him obediently when they reached the plain, trotting with her foreshoulder to his hip.

Kazan was heading for a thicket in the creek bottom half a mile away, and a dozen times in that short distance Gray Wolf stumbled and fell. And each time that she fell Kazan learned a little more of the limitations of blindness. Once he sprang off in pursuit of a rabbit, but he had not taken twenty leaps when he stopped and looked back. Gray Wolf had not moved an inch. She stood motionless, sniffing the air—waiting for him! For a full minute Kazan stood, also waiting. Then he returned to her. Ever after this he returned to the point where he had left Gray Wolf, knowing that he would find her there.

All that day they remained in the thicket. In the afternoon he visited the cabin. Joan and her husband were there, and both saw at once Kazan's torn side and his lacerated head and shoulders.

"Pretty near a finish fight for him," said the man, after he had examined him. "It was either a lynx or a bear. Another wolf could not do that."

For half an hour Joan worked over him, talking to him all the time, and fondling him with her soft hands. She bathed his wounds in warm water, and then covered them with a healing salve, and Kazan was filled again with that old restful desire to remain with her always, and never to go back into the forests. For an hour she let him lie on the edge of her dress, with his nose touching her foot, while she worked on baby things. Then she rose to prepare supper, and Kazan got up—a little wearily—and went to the door. Gray Wolf and the gloom of the night were calling him, and he answered that call with a slouch of his shoulders and a drooping head. Its old thrill was gone. He watched his chance, and went out through the door. The moon had risen when he rejoined Gray Wolf. She greeted his return with a low whine of joy, and muzzled him with her blind face. In her helplessness she looked happier than Kazan in all his strength.

From now on, during the days that followed, it was a last great fight between blind and faithful Gray Wolf and the woman. If Joan had known of what lay in the thicket, if she could once have seen the poor creature to whom Kazan was now all life—the sun, the moon, the stars, and food—she would have helped Gray Wolf. But as it was she tried to lure Kazan more and more to the cabin, and slowly she won.

At last the great day came, eight days after the fight on the Sun Rock. Kazan had taken Gray Wolf to a wooded point on the river point on the river two dys before, and there he had left her the preceding night when he went to the cabin. This time a stout babiche thong was tied to the collar round his neck, and he was fastened to a staple in the log wall. Joan and her husband were up before it was light next day. The sun was just rising when they all went out, got in first, with the baby. Then, still leading him, Joan turned and locked the cabin door, and Kazan heard a sob in her throat as they followed the man down to the river. The big canoe was packed and waiting. Joan got in first, with the baby. heTn, still holding the babiche thong, she drew Kazan up close to her, so that he lay with his weight against her.

The sun fell warmly on Kazan's back as they shoved off, and he closed his eyes, and rested his head on Joan's lap. Her hand fell softly on his shoulder. He heard again that sound which the man could not hear, the broken sob in her throat, as the canoe moved slowly down to the wooded point.

Joan waved her hand back at the cabin, just disappearng behind the trees.

"Good-by!" she cried sadly. "Good-by—" And then she buried her face close down to Kazan and the baby, and sobbed.

CHICAGO WETS GO LIMIT TO EVADE CLOSING ORDER

Wet Goods Bought Before Midnight Will Be Served in Cafes Afterward

ORDER IS SLIGHT RELIEF

Parade of Thousands of Drys March Today in Celebration of Closing

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Mayor Thompson can issue ukases and edicts galore but Chicago will not be entirely dry tomorrow. But where there's a thirst there will be a drink, providing it's bought before midnight tonight. All supplies of wet goods bought before the clock strikes 12 will be served in cafes and restaurants on the Sabbath.

The modification of the airtight lid was announced today following a conference between corporation Counsel Folsom and Chief of Police Healy. In accordance with the opinions of Folsom, Healy issued instructions which will allow the serving of soft drinks by service bars in cafes and those who have prepared for the dry spell by paying for a supply of drinkables can have them served.

Drug Stores Warned

The amended orders will be carried out to the letter and while it won't be a killing drought, there is bound to be many unquenched thirsts. Even the drug stores have been warned to sell nothing but soft drinks.

Officers of liquor dealers' associations declare they will aid the police in every way possible to make the city a blistering desert tomorrow. The "wet' interests believe that by giving the city a real taste of dryness, there will be great popular unrest and Mayor Thompson's edict will meet with disfavor.

Sheriff Scored

Sheriff Traeger of Cook county came in for a scoring from the anti-saloon league today. E. J. Davis, superintendent of the league, claimed he had a promise from Traeger to enforce the Sunday closing law in villages outside of Chicago. Traeger heatedly denied making such a promise

The parade of the "drys" today was notable in the history of the fight on John Barleycorn. Fifty thousand were in the cavalcade at the head of which will be a horrible looking creature representing the Demon Rum.

Parade Before Mayor

Headed by 1,000 Chicago ministers, priests and rabbis, 50,000 men, women and children today marched down Michigan avenue and through the loop, heralding the beginning of a campaign to wipe out Chicago's 7,152 saloons in 1916.

Behind the divines marched 4,000 representatives of Catholic and Jewish organizations, followed by a delegation of 30,000 members of 500 Protestant churches and 1,600 Boy Scouts, H. S. Warner, general secretary of the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition association led 1,000 college boys. Then came 12,000 marchers representing the W. C. T. U., good Templars, the Anti-Saloon league, the County and National Prohibition parties and other organizations.

LATE CELEBRATION FOR COLUMBUS DAY BY LOCAL KNIGHTS

Sunday, October 17, However, Will See 600 K. C.'s of Many States Here for Observance

Columbus Day, the anniversary of the landing of Christopher Columbus on American shores, October 12, 1492, which is observed in thirty-three states of the union as a legal holiday, will be celebrated in La Crosse, Sunday, October 17, with one of the biggest gatherings of Knights of Columbus ever witnessed here. Due to the fact that some of the delegates to the gathering are engaged on the true anniversary, the celebration here could be held October 12.

Six hundred Knights from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and other states will be in attendance. A class of sixty candidates will be initiated into the order, and the affair will conclude with a banquet Sunday evening at the old Y. M. C. A. hall, King street. The candidates to the order will come from Caledonia, Elroy, and Portage, and will be joined by a large number of candidates from La Crosse.

State Deputy Walter M. Burke, Kenosha, will deliver the principal address at the banquet, which will be presided over by Rev. Father Ambrose Murphy, pastor of St. James' Catholic church as toastmaster. Alex H. Baff, Madison, prominent baritone singer, will render several solos during the evening.

The first degree in the initiation work will be given at St. Joseph's parish hall Saturday night, and the second and third degrees will be conferred at the same place Sunday afternoon.

The visitors will attend high mass at St. Joseph's Cathedral at 10:15 o'clock Sunday morning.

The Wedding Route.

It is reported that the "latest thing" in wedding invitations is an engraved map showing the way to the church and to the house. Grinding perplexity is the mother of innovations. It is not so stated, but unquestionably this helpful scheme originated in Boston, where wedding guests have been known to lose themselves and wander around for hours through the tangled highways, not reaching the scene of the festival until the rice and old shoes had been thrown and everyone else was on the way home.—Providence Journal.

RUSS MAKE GAINS IN DVINSK REGION PETROGRAD CLAIMS

PETROGRAD, Oct. 9.—In fierce fighting in the Dvinsk region, the balance of the latest gains have been in Russia's favor, said an official statement issued today. There was no vital change in positions.

Russian captures included an armored train with 1,800 prisoners and many machine guns. Fifteen hundred prisoners were taken near Loutsk and several villages. At a few points German progress was admitted.

From the Drisvyatitz river crossings to the Smorgen region a "protracted battle" was reported raging.

Details were lacking of the destruction of a German transport by a British submarine in the Baltic.

Off the Schlock region Russian warships silenced the German shore batteries and destroyed their trenches.

Handy Men of Iceland.

There are no trades or guilds in Iceland, every man being compelled to depend upon his own skill for his supplies. The natives make their own shoes, shoe their own horses and manufacture their saddles. A few artisans are found in the capital—for example, a bookbinder, a jeweler and others.

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach or bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Little Fresh Water in Adriatic.

Owing to the system of screening mountains the Adriatic receives but little drainage. There are only two rivers of any considerable size that empty into it, the Adige and the Po. The water of this sea therefore is very salty. Navigation is generally safe, although there are some dangerous points upon the eastern coast, and sudden, northerly squalls often lash the waters with terrific force against the rock-bound coast.

STATE AUTHORITY ENDS THE KEPPEL FIGHT ON DEPUTY

County Supervisor Valentine S. Keppel's battle to oust Mrs. Cora Wright from the position of deputy clerk of circuit court has been lost. Attorney General Walter S. Owen today notified District Attorney Otto M Schlabach that the appropriation made by the board recently for the office was valid.

Supervisor Keppel, a prominent figure on the board chamber floor in many debates, presented a resolution to do away with the office, maintaining that the appropriation made for Mrs. Wright's salary was unlawful.

District Attorney Schlabach held that the appropriation was lawful, and was today sustained by Attorney General Owens.

A DETERMINED WOMAN

Finally Found a Food that Helped Her.

"When I first read of the remarkable effects of Grape-Nuts food, I determined to secure some," says a Mo. woman. "At that time there was none kept in this town, but my husband ordered some from a commercial traveler.

"I had been greatly afflicted with sudden attacks of cramps, nausea, and vomiting. Tried all sorts of remedies and physicians, but obtained only temporary relief. As soon as I began to use Grape-Nuts the cramps disappeared and have never returned.

"My old attacks of sick stomach were a little slower to yield, but by continuing the food, that trouble has disappeared entirely. I am today perfectly well, can eat anything and everything I wish, without paying the penalty that I used to. We would not keep house without Grape-Nuts.

"My husband was so delighted with the benefits I received that he has been recommending Grape-Nuts to his customers and has built up a very large trade on the food. He sells it to many of the leading physicians of the county, who recommend Grape-Nuts very generally. There is some satisfaction in using a really scientifically prepared food." "There's a Reason."

PARK CONCERTS WILL START IN THE EARLY SPRING

There's a Balance in the Music Fund with Which to Begin Next Season

Park band concerts which made such a successful debut in La Crosse this season will be started early next year, Alderman A. P. Funk promised this morning when he produced a balance sheet showing a cash balance on hand of $233.89 with which to start the ball rolling next year, after paying all bills incident to the sixteen public band concerts held during the summer. The report given out today by Alderman Albert P. Funk, who had the management of the concerts in charge, shows that the entire fund collected for musical purposes reached the amount of $961.50.

Alderman Funk's financial report follows:

Receipts—Cash received, $961.50.

Disbursements — Kreutz-Andre band, June 17, $52.00; Normal school band, June 18, $25; Kreutz-Andre band, July 1, $52; Joseph B. Funke Co., July 19, $11.28; Kreutz-Andre band, July 20, $52; Kreutz-Andre band, July 23, $50; Kreutz-Andre band, July 30, $50; North Side Military band, August 6, $50; Kreutz-Andre band, August 10, $52; Spence-McCord Drug Co., August 12-17, $10.70; West Salem band, August 12, $57; Kreutz-Andre band, August 18, $55; Third Regiment band, August 20, $100; West Salem band, August 25, $50; Kreutz-Andre band, August 30, $52; Spence-McCord Drug Co., September 2, $6.53; Postage and incidentals, $2.10. Balance cash on hand, $233.89.

MUSIC STUDY CLASS

Final arrangements were made yesterday afternoon by the Music Study club for a recital of negro folk music to be given by Mrs. Collingwood Tucker next Wednesday afternoon at the Masonic temple.

NORMAL

The reception given by the faculty to the student body of the normal last evening was a success in every way. The committee aimed to have every student in school present and there were few students who were not there to enjoy some part of the program. In the field of speech making, President Fassett A. Cotton was allotted two minutes, Regent William F. Wolfe one, and Dr. Frank E. Nurse thirty seconds. Fortunately, however, for the amusement of the audience, each speaker ran considerably overtime. Glen Halik delighted everybody with his two violin solos and the normal orchestra was equally well received with its two selections.

Following this program refreshments were served in the room adjoining the gymnasium and dancing was continued until midnight.

The gym was dressed in fall attire, having brightly colored leaves, corn stalks and pumpkins as its adornment.

THEATER PARTY

Miss Lillian Herrman entertained a dozen girls at a theater party Thursday night in honor of Miss May Erickson, who is visiting her cousin, Miss Agnes Erickson.

Miss Virginia Guess was hostess each evening at a dinner in honor of Miss Erickson. There were eight guests.

20TH CENTURY CLUB

The Twentieth Century club will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday afternoon, October 12, at 2:30, with Mrs. Burt Smith, 515 N. Eighth street. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Davis are nostesses. Report of the convention will be given.

BREAKFAST PARTY

Friday morning there was a novel and delightful breakfast given in the rooms of the public library. The hostesses were Miss Lillian Borreson, librarian, and her assistants, the Misses Bosshard, Edwards, Nellie MacDonald, Martha Lightbody and Pederson. The guests were Miss Bascom of Madison, a member of the library commission, Miss Lutie Stearns of Milwaukee, member of the executive board of the General Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Robert MacDonald. The breakfast began with grape fruit and ended with strawberry short cake for the last course.

FALGE-CAMERON

Mrs. M. Gulick Brown of New York announces the marriage of her daughter, Barbara Cameron, to Lieutenant John Hubert Falge, U. S. N., at noon on Saturday, October 2, at the Church of St. John the Evangelist, in St. Paul, the Rev. J. A. Shaad officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Lean Loren H. Batchelder of Hamline university.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Falge will be at home in New York after November 5.

The bride was one of the popular young women of this city and lived with her mother, who was a niece of the late Mrs. Angus Cameron at whose home they lived. A wedding breakfast was served at the St. Paul. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Baldwin of this city attended the wedding.

OBSERVE BIRTHDAY OF MRS. STOLL

Value of Various Foods.

Butter would be a highly energizing food for the body, but proves worthless as an upbuilder, a repairer of the waste constantly going on with every breath inhaled—exhaled because of its lack of protein content. The same rule holds good with starch and sugar, carbohydrates, heat-givers or producers.

lowed one policeman for every 2,000 people. That, I believe, would allow us fifteen men on the police force."

Alderman Mahoney charged that he sees machines frequently crossing Fourth and Main streets going at the rate of twenty miles an hour. "Only tonight, I saw one going that fast," he reiterated, following the statement of Mayor Bentley that he doubted they went that fast.

"They often run with their mufflers wide open," said the alderman, "and they sometimes run at night with neither front or tail lights to warn pedestrians. Morot tri-cycles run along frequently at from ten to thirty miles an hour as they pass policemen swinging their clubs and with their eyes shut."

Streets Rare Courses

Alderman Mahoney charged some of the outlying streets were veritable race courses. The council paid the extra patrolmen's salaries with but one dissenting vote.

Later in the session Alderman Mahoney became prominent on the council floor by a proposition for the city to spend $10,000 for "bathing places."

He also offered a resolution calling for an expenditure of $4,000 for a water main across the La Crosse river, and the building of two suitable rest rooms in Copeland park, to be fitted out with sewerage and all other modern conveniences. His propositions were all referred.

Two New Fire Trucks?

Alderman Joseph J. Houska offered a resolution appropriating $15,000 for two automobile fire trucks, to be used at central fire station and at one of the north side stations.

A Wonderful Influence.

Thousands of women have unbounded confidence in Mother's Friend. They have used it and know its value to the expectant mother.

They tell of its influence to ease abdominal muscles and how they avoided these dreaded stretching pains.

The safe external application gently sooths the vast number of nerve threads just beneath the skin and relieves the undue tension on the cords and ligaments, giving great physical relief from stubborn pains. Druggists can supply Mother's Friend. There is no other treatment as dependable.

CARRANZA AGAIN ENCOURAGED BY PEACE CONFEREES

First Chief Suggested for Recognition as Provincial President of Mexico

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Recognition—with a string to it—of General Carranza's government in Mexico seemed probable when the Pan-American peace conferees met for their fourth conference today. The tentative program was:

Recommendation that Carranza be recognized as provisional president.

Declaration that he apparently has necessary and sufficient "military and moral capacity."

Suggestion that formal recognition be postponed a few weeks until Carranza's plans are perfected and Villa's action indicated.

With simultaneous formal recognition by the United States and the Latin-American countries as the basis for action today, the representatives of Uruguay and Guatemala had before them.

Assurances from Carranza that he controls the majority of Mexican territory, will call a presidential election, safeguard foreign lives and property, and guarantee payment of foreign claims.

A formal protest from Villa against Carranza's recognition, declaring Carranza controls little of Mexico, not even the southern states of the republic, and that neither he nor Carranza is now sufficiently established to be recognized.

PRISIDENT AND FIANCEE ATTEND "WORLD SERIOUS"

ted up. Strike one called. Ball one. Ball two. Ball three. Strike two called. Foul. Whitted out, Scott to Hobby. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Foster certainly looked good. Cravath and Luderus, the Philly sluggers, put all their weight behind two healthy swings in their process of striking out.

Third Inning

BOSTON—Foster up. Ball one. Strike one called. Ball two. Foul, strike two. Ball three. Foster fanned and was thrown out at first, Burns to Luderus. Hooper up. Strike one. Foul, strike two. Ball one. Ball two. Foul. Hooper fanned, swung. Scott up. Ball one. Strike one called. Ball two. Strike two called. Scott fanned, swung. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

This was Mayer's first strike out of the game. President Wilson and Mrs. Galt laughed heartily as the Philly pitcher's victims threw their bats to the ground and went back to the bench.

PHILADELPHIA — Niehoff up. Strike one called. Foul, strike two. Ball one. Ball two. Niehoff fanned, called. Burns up. Ball one. Burns out, Hobby to Foster, who covered the bag. Mayer up. Mayer was given a hand as he came to bat. Ball one. Ball two. Strike one called. Foul, strike two. Mayer fanned, called. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Foster hung up his fifth strike out when he fanned Mayer. At this stage not a single Philly had reached first base. The president and his fiancee followed closely the course of balls and fouls into the grandstand but displayed no dismay for themselves.

Fourth Inning

BOSTON—Speaker up. Ball one. Speaker popped to Bancroft. Hobby up. Ball one. Ball two. Ball three. Hobby out, Luderus unassisted. Lewis up. Foul, strike one. Ball one. Foul, strike two. Foul. Lewis singled to center. Gardner up. Ball one. Ball two. Foul, strike one. Gardner flied to Whitted. NO RUNS. ONE HIT. NO ERRORS.

Mayer was using a curve ball to right handers and a fast one to the left-handers. Aside from Lewis all of the three hits off Mayer up to this stage were gotten by left-handers. He had struck out four right-handers.

PHILADELPHIA—Stock up. Ball one. Strike one called. Stock flied to Speaker. Bancroft up. Foul, strie one. Bancroft out, Hobby to Foster, who covered first. Paskert up. Strike one called. Paskert flied to Hooper. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Paskert's drive to Hooper looked for a minute like two bases. The fielder got under it, however, by a quick dash.

Fifth Inning

BOSTON.—Barry up. Barry out, Stock to Luderus. Thomas up. Ball one. Strike one, called. Strike two, called. Foul. Ball two. Thomas out, Stock to Luderus. Foster up. Ball one. Foul, strike one. Ball two. Ball three. Strike two. Foster doubled against right field wall. It was the first extra base hit of the series. Hooper up. Ball one. Ball two. Ball three. Hooper walked. Scott up. Strike one, called. Scott flied to Whitted. NO RUNS. ONE HIT. NO ERRORS.

Mayer refused to take a chance on Hooper and walked him.

PHILADELPHIA — Cravath up. Ball one. Ball two. Foul, strike one. Strike two, called. Cravath doubled down left field foul line. The crowd was on its feet yelling madly. Luderus up. Foul, strike one. Foul, strike two. Luderus doubled, scoring Cravath. The hit was to center. Whitted up. The crowd was more than wild. President Wilson smiled from ear to ear Foul, strike one. Strike two called. Whitted out, Scott to Hobby. Luderus taking third. Niehoff up. Niehoff lined to Hobby. Burns up. Ball one. Foul, strike one. Foul, strike two. Foul. Ball two. Burns fanned, swung. ONE RUN. TWO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Sixth Inning

BOSTON—Speaker up. Ball one. Strike one called. Ball two. Speaker popped to Bancroft. Hoblitzell up. Strike one, called. Ball one. Ball two. Ball three. Strike two, called. Hobby flied to Niehoff. Lewis up. Foul, strike one. Strike two, swung. Lewis fanned, swung. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

The sudden bombardment of Foster by Cravath and Luderus in the fifth was a complete surprise. Up to that time Foster had not allowed a hit. The brace of doubles were the Phillies' first solid smashes in the series.

PHILADELPHIA—Mayer up. Ball one. Strike one, called. Strike two, swung. Ball two. Mayer out, Barry to Hobby. Stock up. Strike one, called. Foul, strike two. Ball one. Stock out, Barry to Hobby. Bancroft up. Strike one, called. Ball one. Bancroft singled to right. Paskert up. Ball one. Ball two. Paskert out, Gardner to Hobby. NO RUNS. ONE HIT. NO ERRORS.

Seventh Inning

BOSTON—Gardner up. Strike one, called. Ball one. Ball two. Strike two called. Gardner flied to Whitted. Barry up. Barry singled to left. Thomas up. Ball one. Thomas forced Barry, Bancroft to Niehoff. Foster up. Strike one, swung. Ball one. Foster singled to left, Thomas taking second. It was Foster's second hit. Hooper up. Janvrin runs for Thomas. Hooper up. Hooper safe on Mayer's low throw. The official scorers called it a hit. The bases were filled. Henricksen batting for Scott. Strike one called. Henricksen popped to Luderus. NO RUNS. THREE HITS. NO ERRORS.

Mayer was in the worst hole of the game in this inning, and showed wonderful work when he forced Henricksen to pop up a little infield fly with the bases full. Cady now catching for Boston. Janvrin at short.

PHILADELPHIA — Cravath up. Strike one, swung. Strike two, swung. Strike three, fanned, swung. Luderus up. Strike one, called. Luderus flied to Hooper. Whitted up. Ball one. Strike one, swung. Foul, strike two. Foul. Ball two. Ball three. Foul. Foul. Whitted fouled to Cady. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Eighth Inning

BOSTON—Speaker up. Strike one, swung. Ball one. Speaker out, Luderus to Mayer, who covered first. Hobby up. Ball one. Ball two. Strike one, called. Hobby flied to Cravath. Lewis up. Lewis out, Bancroft to Luderus. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Bancroft made a fine stop and throw of what appeared to be a sure hit.

PHILADELPHIA — Niehoff up. Strike one, swung. Ball one. Niehoff out, Gardner to Hobby. Burns up. Burns popped to Janvrin. Mayer up. Foul, strike one. Strike two, swung. Ball one. Mayer flied to Speaker. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

The fans began rooting at this stage for a run, from almost anybody would do. Owing to the tightness of the game the crowd pulled for anybody to win.

Ninth Inning

BOSTON — Gardner up. Foul, strike one. Strike two, called. Ball one. Ball two. Ball three. Gardner singled to left. Barry up. Foul, strike one. Foul, strike two. Ball one. Barry flied to Paskert. Janvrin up. Ball one. Foul, strike one. Janvrin out, Mayer to Luderus. Foster up. Gardner on second. Ball one. Foster singled, scoring Gardner. Foster went to second on the throw in. The hit went to center. It was his third hit. Hooper up. Foul, strike one. Foul, strike two. Ball one. Ball two. Ball three. Foul. Fanned. ONE RUN. TWO HITS. NO ERRORS.

At the end of Boston's ninth the Boston band played the Star Spangled Banner and the president and entire crowd stood uncovered. Play was suspended and all the players took off their caps as the national anthem swept through the stands.

Ninth Inning

PHILADELPHIA — Stock up. Strike one, called. Ball one. Strike two, called. Stock flied to Lewis. Bancroft up. Strike one, called. Ball one. Ball two. Foul, strike two. Foul. Ball three. Fanned. Last strike, called. Paskert up. Ball one. Paskert flied to Speaker. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Measures Offered For Sale Will Be Tested By Sealer

Scales and measuring devices that do not conform with the standards of the state weights and measures' department cannot be sold in La Crosse after Monday, for the first of next week City Sealer E. H. Derr will begin a campaign which will result in the condemnation of every doubtful device on merchants' shelves.

Sealer Derr is acting on orders from Madison, where this summer it was decided that the merchant needs protection from inaccurate family scales as much as the housewife needs protection from incorrect commercial measures.

Every scale, weight or measure offered for sale in La Crosse will be tested by the city sealer. Those not accurate will be condemned and forbidden sale.

DIXON WILL HELP UNIVERSITY CHURCH

Rev. E. C. Dixon of the First Methodist church of La Crosse, has been elected vice president of the Wesley Foundation, a corporation organized at Madison Monday night to take charge of securing funds for the erection of a university church at the state capital. About twenty-five men attended the meeting, including representatives from both the Wisconsin and Western Wisconsin conferences. Rev. Dixon is the only man from La Crosse who attended the meeting, which was the outgrowth of the university church work started eight years ago. The university church now has a membership of more than 350 students, who meet in the Y. M. C. A.

The proposed church will be built on University avenue, directly facing the campus and will cost about $100,000. It will be erected adjacent to a dwelling house, the property of the foundation, which will be used for class rooms, offices and a residence for the pastor, Rev. Edward W. Blakeman.

PRESIDENT AND FIANCEE LEAVE FOR PHILADELPHIA

Mrs. Norman Galt and the Executive Finish Brief Visit to New York

SEE THE WORLD'S SERIES

Hosts of Admirers Cheer Party as It Wends Its Way Through Busy Streets

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—President Wilson and his fiancee, Mrs. Norman Galt, left for Philadelphia to see the second world's series game at 11 o'clock today with the mystery of the engagement ring still unsolved.

The president's car was attached to the regular Philadelphia express, due at the Huntingdon station in Philadelphia at 12:47 p. m. From this station the presidential party will have but a few steps to walk to the baseball park. It was said that the party would leave for Washington immediately after the game.

Crowds surrounded every jewelry shop on Fifth avenue as "Mrs. Galt's seeing New York party" drove toward the Pennsylvania station after an uptown trip.

With difficulty the automobiles made their way through the crowds and passed the jewelers' shops without stopping. Whether the ring had been purchased and now adorns the gloved hand which the president has won, only the mother, Mrs. W. H. Bolling, the president's friend, Colonel E. M. House, and Miss Margaret Wilson know.

ON BOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL, NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 9.—A big solitaire diamond ring gleamed on the finger of the future mistress of the White house when she removed her gloves after leaving New York for Philadelphia today.

The beautiful solitaire, set in platinum, was purchased last night by the president, who selected it from an assortment sent to him by a Fifth avenue jeweler.

"Isn't it perfectly beautiful," smiled Mrs. Galt, as she displayed the gem and the president looked on with open pride and delight.

The woman, who is to be first lady of the land, had many admirers in New York as she was escorted by the president in a motor trip up Riverside drive. Many followed in automobiles.

Midway up the drive a gust of wind sent the president's grey felt hat whirling and the entire procession was stopped while several persons raced for the honor of returning it. Mrs. Galt sat beside the president and laughed at him from under her broad black velvet hat, somewhat to his embarrassment, as they waited for the hat's return.

Mrs. Galt wore a simply tailored suit of black broadcloth. The suit coat was long and was cut away slightly in front. Her neck piece was of black fur and she wore a large corsage bouquet of big purple orchids, the gift of the president.

The president's fiancee rose early today at the Hotel St. Regis, where she stopped during the brief visit to New York.

President Wilson breakfasted with Colonel House in the latter's apartment and motored to the St. Regis to meet Mrs. Galt at 9 a. m. They planned an automobile trip through the down-town section of New York, with excursions into a few stores, before boarding the train for Philadelphia for the world's series.

Attend Theater

Perhaps the climax to the popular ovations given the new mistress of the white house was at the Empire theater last night where the presidential party went, after dinner at Colonel House's apartment.

The audience rose and applauded vigorously as they appeared in a flag-bedecked box. The president smiled broadly as he bowed. Mrs. Galt's face flushed slightly and her hazel eyes were snapping when she acknowledged the applause.

CARD OF THANKS.

We, the undersigned, wish to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during our recent bereavement in sickness and death of our beloved wife and daughter, Mrs. James Ambrose Smith. We especially wish to thank Rev. A. Murphy and those who sent floral offerings.

FORTY COUPLES AT NEW DANCE SCHOOL

About forty couples took advantage of the opportunity to attain proficiency in the terpsichorean art, by attending the dance held at the W. B. U. hall Friday night. Combined with the dance was a lesson in the modern standardized dances, with D. J. Sullivan of the New York dancing school as instructor. He was highly complimented not only because of his instructive ability but because of his success in getting the young people together in eradication of the "wall flower" class.

HEART DISEASE IS FATAL TO WOMAN

While working about her home at about 11 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Mary Rehfuss, 910 South Seventeenth street, was suddenly overcome by heart disease. Members of her family rushed to her side. She did not speak to them and when physicians who were summoned reached the home she was dead. Mrs. Rehfuss was the wife of William Rehfuss, local cement burial vault manufacturer. She was born in Canada, coming to La Crosse fifteen years ago.

Mrs. Rehfuss is survived by her husband and three children. The children are Mrs. Florence Schulke, La Crosse; Clyde Rehfuss, Sparta, and Miss Mabel Rehfuss of La Crosse.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home. Burial will take place at Oak Grove cemetery.

MR. EASTMAN IRVINE IS IN OUR MIDST

Eastman Irvine, of the staff of the New York World, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Irvine, 805 West avenue south.

Good for Eastie!

This painstaking effort to say something sufficiently provincial to make Mr. Irvine realize that he is at home, and at the same time furnish copy for the World's funny column, is expected to disguise the truth that The Tribune is rather more metropolitan than the World.

CLARK SENDS THANKS

BOWLING GREEN, Mo., Oct. 9.—Speaker Champ Clark today sent a letter to Governor Major thanking the governor for naming him the greatest living Missourian.

October is the Best Month for a Trip to California

There will never again be so much to see as now and it is not probable rates will be so low again as this season. The San Francisco Exposition will be open until Dec. 4, and the San Diego Fair until Dec. 31.

Please call at Pearl Street Station and investigate.

PRESIDENT WITH FIANCEE LEAVES FOR NEW YORK

Great Crowd Gathers at the Station to Get Glimpse of Coming First Lady

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—President Wilson and party left Washington at 10:30 a. m. for New York.

A great throng gathered at the union station today to see the woman who is to be mistress of the White house. The crowd, feminine in large part, wished also to see the president, but for once he was of less interest than another of his party.

The chance to see the bride-to-be, Mrs. Norman Galt, was afforded by the departure of the president's party for New York to be guests of Colonel E. M. House. In the capacity of chaperone was Mrs. H. W. Bolling, mother of Mrs. Galt.

Plans for including the world series game at Philadelphia in the week-end excursion were modified to provide for another day in New York Saturday in case rain postponed the game. The party was due to reach New York at 3:17 p. m.

SCORES GET FREE SHAVES WHILE THE BARBERS EXAMINE

Scores of free shaves and haircuts were given Thursday and Friday at the Hass and Jambois barber shop, 122 South Third street, where the barbers' division of the state board of health were holding examinations for barbers. The examinations were in charge of M. J. Brenner, Milwaukee. The other examiners are William L. Smith, A. T. LeDue, Edward W. Puerner. G. W. Hall, formerly a barber shop proprietor here and well known, makes the statement that the board is in the highest state of perfection in its history.

ARTILLERY FIRE HEAVY IN WEST

Germans Claim Progress Is Made Where the French Threatened Important Railroad

PARIS, Oct. 9.—Heavy cannonading raged throughout the night about Souchez and Hill 140 at La Folie, in the Artois district, the official communication here announced today.

General cannonading was reported very active near Roy on the Aisne toward Tracy-Le-Val and at St. Mard forest.

The Germans bombarded heavily and got a hot response between the St Hilaire-St. Souplet and Souain-Somme-Pyour roads, in the Champagne region.

A sharp trench battle raged southeast of Tahure.

Otherwise, said the announcement, the night was rather quiet.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Guns roared more violently on the northern battle front today than during the terrific fighting September 25, according to a Central News Amsterdam dispatch, quoting reports from the Dutch Belgian frontier.

Berlin Reports Progress

BERLIN, via London, Oct. 9.—German progress south of Ste. Marie-Py, where the French threatened the railroad depended on by the kaiser for suplies was announced officially today. German counter attacks also cleared the trenches each of the Navarin farm, it was stated.

AUTOISTS OPEN DIXIE HIGHWAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Hundreds of Chicago automobilists started from Grant park today for a tour of the new Dixie highway, the road which will link the north and west with Miami, Fla. It was officially opened today—Chicago Day. About fifty of them will continue on through the entire system of highways to Miami. At the Indiana line Hoosier cars joined them. State relays in Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida will take the "through routers to Dixie" to Miami.

Dr. Gunderson Reaches Half Century Mark

Dr. Adolph Gunderson was fifty years old yesterday. His friends greeted him all day with handshakings, while the doctor made good with the treats. The anniversary was consummated at his home last night with a stag party, to which a large group of his friends were invited.

Dr. Gunderson was born in Solor, Norway. He attended the University of Norway, at Christiania with Postmaster O. R. Skaar. Dr. Gunderson studied medicine and Mr. Skaar law. Dr. Gunderson's father was for many years a member of the Norwegian congress.

He came to this country in 1892, entering the office of Dr. Christianson as an assistant to him. Within a year he was taken in as a full partner in the firm.

DEWEY'S GOT HORSE BUT WANTS WAGON

Mission Head Starts Woodyard Campaign; Farmer Lends Horse But the Wagon Is Missing

Is there a wagon in La Crosse which won't be working this winter? If there is such an article, Superintendent D. C. Dewey of the La Crosse Rescue mission can use it, and to good advantage. Dewey is starting on his winter's campaign of wood cutting and selling, by which he feeds and lodges hundreds of homeless men during the winter. Byron Mulder, New Amsterdam store keeper, has loaned the animal and now all that is needed is the wagon.

MICHIGAN AND MT. UNION CLASH

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 9—Football squads of Michigan and Mt. Union clashed on Ferry field here this this afternoon. The Ohio Wolverines lost last year and the Yost men were under instructions to "show 'em up" today.

ENGLAND'S SAILOR POET AT NORMAL

Famous John Masefield to Occupy Platform in Normal Course Here

"I must go down to the seas again, to the the lonely sea and the sky.
And all I ask is a tall ship and a star to steer her by."

So sings John Masefield, and his song shows him to be a real poet. The world is recognizing it and his fame has reached La Crosse. He will occupy the normal school platform, giving one of the numbers of the lecture course for the present season.

Nothing more picturesque than his biography could be invented even by a writer with the powers of Jack London. Born in the west of England, he preferred roaming the glorious hills of that country to regularly attending school.

In the hope of curbing this supposed evil, his father, a lawyer, indentured him to a sea captain and in the years that followed John Masefield sailed most of the world's navigable waters. The knowledge he gained of the sea and its traditions has been of vital importance to him in his poems; it is of the seas he seems to sing best.

These were not years of wastefulness, but were years of conscious preparation, as Mr. Masefield himself confesses, for a literary life to follow.

MEXICANS DECLARE ARMISTICE DURING PAN-AMERICAN MEET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—An armistice has stopped fighting between Villa and Carranza forces until after today's Pan-American conference. Both ceased military operations, according to dispatches received here.

Further conferences with Mexican leaders were held today by Secretary of State Lansing. It was reported today that Pan-American conferees might recommend recognition of Carranza in the future, but defer absolute recognition to await political and military results.

DUDLEY AND HIS MULE FEATURES OF SUNDAY SHOW

Majestic's New Once-a-week Vaudeville Will Start with Crackerjack Bill Tomorrow

S. H. Dudley and company, late stars of the "Smart Set," are the leading attractions on the high class vaudeville bill which will introduce the Pantages road show to La Crosse at the Majestic tomorrow. "Company" is a mule of small size and waggish ways. Dudley and company present a stock of songs and sayings of more than ordinarily amusing properties.

The first barefoot dancer to make a vaudeville appearance in La Crosse will also be on the bill in the person of Mlle. Sidonie, a petite and interesting French dancer. Mlle. Sidonie carries in addition to a startling wardrobe her own complete outfit of scenery, done in sensational effects and daring color schemes. The act is one of the novelties of the season here.

Nick Santora and company, presenting "Marty Hogan's Win," have a three scene playlet with punch—literally as well as figuratively, for the last and climatic scene is in the prize ring at the Tivoli theater, New York. A snappy round or so of fistic mixing, as well as a lively plot and a competent cast, render "Marty Hogan's Win" a vaudeville classic.

Harry La Toy, a talkative juggler who fraternizes with the audience while nonchalantly hurling various things in various ways, is another feature of the Pantages show, and Bonniger and Lester, musicians and dancers, are also scheduled.

HOLY NAME ARMY PARADES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Twelve thousand members of the Holy Name society from Maryland, Delaware and Washington will march through the city tomorrow to the monument grounds where mass will be celebrated.

New Jackson Model "34"—motor 3¼x5"; 112-inch wheelbase; 32 x 4" tires—fully equipped, including one-man top, electric lighting and starting system, and Stewart Vacuum Fuel System

New Jackson Model "34" $985

A Revelation in Flexibility Astonishingly Free From Vibration

All motor development has been toward the attainment of two important qualities.

1. Increased flexibility.
2. Freedom from vibration.

The new Jackson "34" is a marvel of flexibility. Its freedom from vibration is simply astonishing.

It speeds up to 55 miles within a few city blocks.

At 55 miles an hour the motor is vibrationless.

Great Hill-Climber

It is equally remarkable for stamina, pulling power and economy.

It goes through sand like a knife through paper. It fairly flies up hills.

The motor is of the small bore, long stroke, high duty, balanced type.

This type motor, in its infancy in America, predominates among the finest European models.

You are undoubtedly familiar with the merits of the small bore and long stroke motor.

The distinguishing difference of the Jackson "34" is that it is also a high duty, balanced motor.

The last four words make all the difference. Just how much difference you will never know until you ride in a Jackson "34."

In every other feature Jackson "34" is equally admirable. It is Jackson quality throughout.

Roomy, Comfortable Body

The new qualities add the final touch of the luxury, comfort and substantial strength for which Jacksons have always been noted.

You will find Jackson "34" in every way worthy of your ownership. When you have ridden in it you will declare with us that it is one of the best Jacksons ever built.

Indeed, it will not surprise us if you go further and proclaim it one of the best cars built

We suggest an early demonstration.

Model "348"—Eight Cylinders

2⅞ x 4¾—balanced high duty motor. One of the snappiest "eights" money can buy. Velvety in action. Jackson quality through and through. 112-inch wheel-base, 32 x 4 tires; floating rear axle—two universal joints; full elliptic springs; center control, complete equipment including Stewart Vacuum Fuel System. F. O. B. Jackson.

Model "68"—Eight Cylinders

3½x4½—balanced high duty motor. A big, powerful touring car de luxe. Seats seven. 124-inch wheel-base; 34x4½ tires; cent control; full floating rear axle—two universal joints; full elliptic springs—a beautiful, large, roomy touring car that literally compares with any eight at any price, and the Jackson is at least two hundred dollars lower in price. F. O. B. Jackson.

$1685

Do not wait too long before placing the order for your new Jackson. This will be a great year for Jacksons—a great year for you with a new Jackson.

CROWNHART WILL PRACTICE LAW; HIS JOB IS OPEN

Tax Commission Place to Be Filled and Swamp Land Job Goes Begging

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 9.—Reports that C. H. Crownhart, former chairman of the Industrial commission, was to be appointed to the vacancy on the Tax commission have been effectually quieted by the knowledge that he has made preparations to practice law in Madison. This means that the governor has two good jobs to fill, the $5,000 place on the tax commission and a new position on the newly created board to look into swamp land claims against the federal government. It is understood that there are several applicants for the tax commission job while the swamp land job is going begging, although it will pay a good salary and involve trips to Washington, D. C., at state expense.

In his law practice Mr. Crownhart will be associated with F. M. Wylie, formerly chief clerk of the senate. They will specialize in practice before the state commissions and departments, public utility rates and service, tax adjustments, insurance rates, incorporations, legislation, workmen's compensation and other business. Mr. Crownhart for years practiced in Superior as partner of W. R. Foley.

In 1910 he was the successful manager of Senator La Follette's campaign for re-election. For several years he was a normal school regent. He was chairman of the Industrial commission from 1911 until last August. Mr. Wylie, through his experience with the legislature, is thoroughly familiar with the workings of the state government and is a recognized expert on parliamentary law and legislative procedure.

WAR ODDITIES

SHEFFIELD.—Over 115,000 second hand razors have been collected here and 75,000 have been repaired, reset and sent out to the troops.

LONDON.—Among ships' cargoes captured by the British were: Human hair, buffalo horns, African and Indian curiosities, sausage skins, tooth picks and mouth organs.

AMSTERDAM.—All bachelors in the Saxon town of Oschatz, not serving in the German army, are subjected to a heavy tax.

BIRKENHEAD, Eng. — Women conductors, all wives of soldiers, are operating on local tramways.

MANCHESTER.—The Manchester postoffice is "manned" by a staff of women letter sorters and letter carriers while Manchester park gardens are "gardened" by women.

ZURICH.—According to a statement published here eighty per cent of students of German universities are serving in the army.

LONDON.—The war will produce a higher grade of mental stability than has been apparent for years, according to Dr. William Graham, famous English alienist.

PARIS.—"Swat the fly" has become one of the mottos of the medical staff of the French army. Individual swatting, however, has been supplemented by wholesale scientific swatting. The methods used do not make delectable reading for newspaper subscribers but are most efficacious in preserving the health of the army.

Confederate Submarine.

Imagine a cigar 30 feet long and 6 feet thick and you have a fair photograph of a Confederate submarine that sank a big Union warship in Charleston harbor. This curious craft was built in Mobile, and Captain Hundley, who helped construct her, perished while making an experimental trip.

BUFFALO WOMAN MURDERED

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 9.—Kate Arnold, 21, of Buffalo, N. Y., was found murdered in the El Roy hotel, early yesterday. Her skull had been crushed with a heavy iron cuspidor in the hands of an unknown assailant who escaped. The man came to the place about 1 a. m. and inquired for the woman. A few minutes later he dashed from the building. The woman's body was found by the clerk. There is no trace of the murderer.

ELROY GAMBLERS BEAT RETREAT

Assemblyman A. E. Frederick Comes to Make Arrest but Gamblers Leave in Automobiles

ELROY, Wis., Oct. 9.—Eight professional gamblers, who had come to Elroy to operate their various devices in connection with the Elroy fair, beat a hasty retreat yesterday, and wholesale gambling here in public is probably forever ended. Wisconsin's "fighting parson," Assemblyman A. E. Frederick of Kendall, was the cause of the consternation. Unexpectedly he arrived in Elroy bent on the arrest of the gamblers, who secured automobiles and escaped. Frederick has sworn out complaints against the proprietors of the saloons wherein the machines and wheels were operated. Frederick expressed great disappointment at the escape of the gamblers, as some of them were notorious, coming from other places, notably from Chicago.

RUSHFORD LIBRARY ADDS MANY BOOKS

General Library "Boost" Which Has Been Going on Results in Big Addition to Reading Matter

RUSHFORD, Minn., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Ninety-eight new volumes have been added to the shelves of the public library and there will soon be another consignment ready for distribution, when books to be purchased with the funds from the local W. C. T. U. are received.

Three hundred and sixteen of the old books are in the hands of the firm which rebinds them and when all the volumes are in place, Rushford will have a very wide range of subjects from which to choose.

Albert Lea Women Come

Mesdames Hormel of Austin and Auger and Lyle of Albert Lea were the guests of the ladies of the Presbyterian Missionary society last Tuesday afternoon. The party came over from Preston and from this city will go to Lewiston and Winona; their object in making the trip through these and other places in the Winona district being to advance interest in the work of the societies they meet. A special meeting of the Rushford ladies was called for Tuesday afternoon in order to meet the visitors, and all who were present greatly enjoyed the informal gathering. Mrs. Runner of Austin, was to have also been one of the party, but unavoidable circumstances prevented her coming. The ladies, with their driver, came by car.

Local and Personal

A. W. C. T. U. parlor meeting was held Thursday afternoon at the home of the Union's treasurer, Mrs. L. Tagland of Stevens' avenue. Although the weather was not of the best brand, a goodly number were present and all enjoyed the program.

Melvin Anderson, otherwise "Moppy," is being besieged with inquiries as to the re-opening of the gymnasium. Mr. Anderson, who is employed at the State bank, is one of those whole-souled mortals who believes in making this old world of ours just as bright as one's talents can make it and as his own talents all seem to be very brightly-burnished and well-used his special "little corner" is always a happy one. We believe that the plea of the young folks for "another jolly winter," as they express it, will not be disregarded by Mr. Anderson, who last year was the director of the gymnasium.

Pointer for the Worker.

If a clock goes fitfully nobody knows the time of day; and if your allotted task is a necessary link in the chain of another man's work, you are his clock and he ought to be able to rely on you.—John Stuart Blackie.

SOCIETY BELLE TURNS FARMER

EDEN, Idaho, Oct. 9.—Edith Hatfield used to be a society girl in Portland, Ore. Today she officially designated herself a "farm boss."

Her husband died and left the big Diamond H ranch near here. She was nervous and in poor health and weighed 126. Today she is "boss" of the Diamond H, does her own housework, gets meals for a big crew of ranch hands, knows how to rope a steer, raise pigs, cattle and alfalfa. And besides, she's the personification of health.

Her hobby at present is curing hams, and she says these are better and sweeter than the most famous Smithfield that ever happened.

It's a great life, this ranching, avers this scion of a prominent Missouri family.

Size of the Earth.

To be exact, the diameter of the earth from pole to pole is 7,899 miles; the equatorial diameter being 7,925 miles. The slight difference of diameter is, of course, owing to the flattening out of the poles.

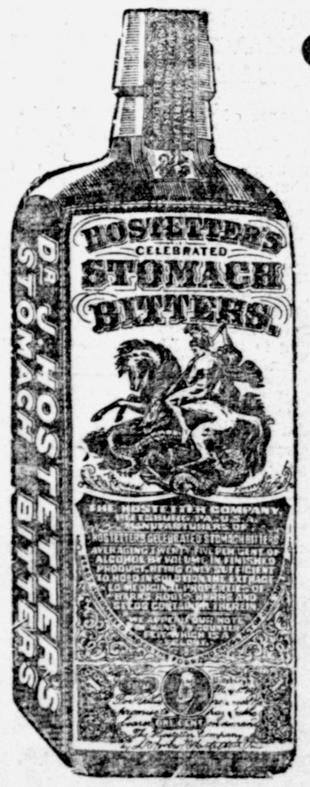

AYLWARD ON BENCH

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 8.—John Aylward, United States district attorney, will be appointed United States federal judge to succeed the late Judge Seaman of Sheboygan, according to a message received here from Washington this morning. Joseph Davies, chairman of the federal trades commission, favored Mr. Aylward for the judgeship, while Paul Husting, United States senator, favored Martin Lueck of Dodge county.

The Growing Age.

According to Dr. Lindsay Wynecoop, boys and girls between ten and sixteen years of age need a great deal of sleep. Laziness, he declares, is an indication that they are growing. Poor marks in school, he avers, are not so serious as many parents are wont to believe.

The Promotion of Health

Good health must have its start in the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, for these organs are the controlling power and have direct influence on the entire system.

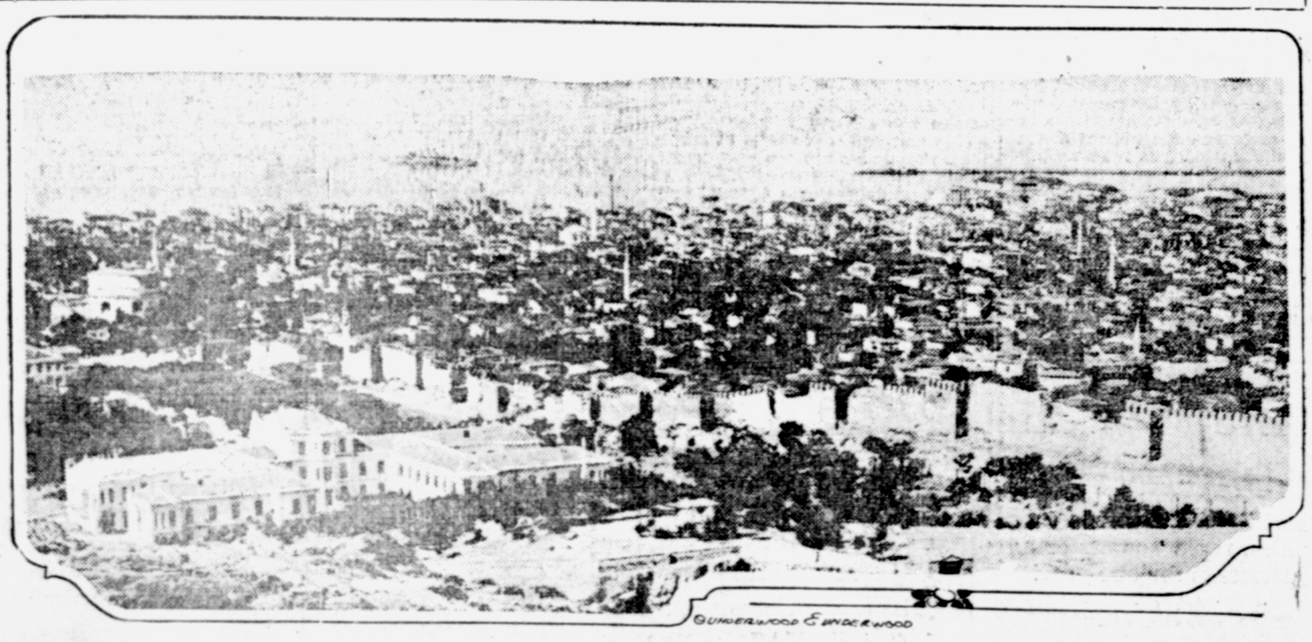

If stomach weakness is allowed to develop, digestion becomes impaired, the appetite begins to wane, the liver becomes lazy and the bowels constipated.

Therefore the great importance of establishing and maintaining strength and vigor in these organs at all times. To this end just try

PRESIDENT AND BETROTHED SEE WORLD TITLE MIX

Mrs. Norman Galt Occupies Big Place in Daily Firmament of Quaker Town

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 9.—The weather man was pinch hitting like a fiend for feverish fandom today. What poets would describe as "an azure sky," floated over a sun-splotched Philadelphia for the second verse of that all popular ditty, the world's series.

It was football weather for a baseball populace. Small chunks of ice seemed to wander promiscuously around in the ozone, but under the hectic influence of a coming battle royal they passed unnoticed. The sun, although getting away from the pole in a cool sort of way, bid fair to warm to his job before two o'clock, but it was on its toes for a first peek at Mrs. Norman Bolling Galt, who is shortly to take her place as the first lady in these broad United States. It was only mildly interested in the president—it had seen him before—but Mrs. Galt even reached out and snatched some of Grover Cleveland Alexander's popularity. And when Philadelphians can forget G. C. for somebody who cannot play baseball, that somebody has to be somebody.

Next to Mrs. Galt, Quaker interest centered largely in who was going to pitch today. There wasn't a whole lot of interest in that phase of it yesterday, as Pat Moran had but one ace. Pat had to lead his king today, and which ever way he started, Bill Carrigan had a fair sized jump on him. Bill has several aces and quite a parcel of kings.

It looked like Leonard for Boston, and Chalmers for Philadelphia. Leonard is a bear. He's been proving it all season. Ball players say he is the best south-paw in the game since the demise of the late lamented Rube Marquard.

Be that as it may, John Patrick Moran had his work cut out for him in selecting a guy to work against the Dutchman.

Chalmers was generally favored because he's been pitching the best ball all season, next to the effervescent G. Cleveland Alexander. Mayer is, or has been in the midst of a protracted slump, and Eppa Jeptha Rixey, the long drawn out college yell, hasn't been very lucky this season. It takes something besides good pitching, too, to darn those Red Sox—it takes a goodly quantity of gray matter. And George Chalmers' bitterest enemies never had nerve enough to charge him with lacking brains.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY SPEEDWAY, L. I., Oct. 9.—Twenty-one of the world's greatest race drivers, possibly twenty-two, were to get away promptly at noon today in the 350 mile drive for the Astor cup in New York's new motordrome.

Sunny skies, but low temperature, greeted the crowds that began streaming out to the great stadium before 7 a. m. The cold weather, however, was expected to have little effect on the attendance, and it was estimated that more than 50,000 persons would see the inaugural race on the new speedway, the first big motor race near New York since the Vanderbilt cup events.

Resta, De Palma and Mulford were favorites among the early arrivals.

DAY IDEAL FOR FIRST NORM GAME

Bright, Spring Day Greets Normal Athletes in the Game Against Winona

With an ideal football day, Old Sol bright, and just the right tinge in the atmosphere to give spirit to a man, everything was in readiness at 2:30 this afternoon for the normal's first combat. Winona players and rooters arrived this noon. The local bunch was given a good send-off with the first mass meeting of the year held in the auditorium yesterday. A few members of the band provided the music, Messrs. Riebe and Holthaus led the cheers, and Messrs. Nurse, Sputh, Strum, Grausenick and La Fromboise spoke of the team and of the game.

Latest reports were doubtful as to the outcome.

SOX TAKE THIRD OF CITY SERIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The White Sox won the third game of the series for the city championship from their National league rivals, the Cubs, 5 to 1 on Friday. The series now stands 2 to 1 in the American league's favor.

The game was a pitching duel between Faber and Pierce, in which the latter weakened in the eighth inning. Weaver opened the inning with a single to left and E. Collins walked. Felch bunted in front of the plate for a sacrifice, but Pierce's throw was too late to force Weaver at third. Jackson doubled down the left field foul line, scoring Weaver and Collins. After J. Collins' infield out, Blackburne singled to left, scoring Felch and Blackburne scored a minute later on Schalk's single.

Faber pitched a great game, holding the Nationals to five scattered hits, four of which were made by Zimmerman. The score:

Nationals	000000001	1	5
Americans	00000005x	5	12

Batteries: Pierce, Zabel and Archer; Faber and Schalk.

BOUT POSTPONED

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The Jack White-George Chaney fight scheduled for October 19 at Baltimore had been postponed ten days. Chaney wants that much time to recuperate from the damage received in his recent bout with Eddie Morgan.

"Their Mascot, Not Blows, Kept Phils On Their Toes," Says Braley, Who Knows

(Written for the United Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—You won't find Raoul Naughton on the score card any place, he never sent a homer soaring proudly into space, he never scooped a grounder and he never caught a fly as it hurtled swiftly earthward from the clear and azure sky; he's never in the coaching box to yammer and to bawl—in fact, young Raoul Naughton ain't a player-guy at all.

But gentle Raoul Naughton, if you take him by and large, has the fortunes of the Phillies almost wholly in his charge—he's the little humpbacked mascot of the Quaker City team, and he surely "put it over" with a lot of vim and steam, for in this initial contest he was on the job for fair—when it comes to lucky mascots Raoul certainly is THERE—He is there with many bells on and a pleasant smile and bland, as he scares away the jinxes with a horseshoe in each hand.

Yes, you gotta admit that the Phillies were lucky, whatever you say of the game, although Alexander was clever and plucky and justly deserves all his fame; his team wasn't there with the walloping bingle, its hits were the scratchiest kind, there was only one regular, sure-enough single, yet fortune was boosting behind; she turned little pop-ups to hits that were needed and then she made runs of them too, and thus Philadelphia's tallies exceeded the score of the visiting crew.

To tell the truth laborious (although the facts be nude) this game was far from glorious, however it is viewed, it had few points to fight about, or cause the muse a flight about, it wasn't much to write about—at least, I thought it crude.

The marvelous delivery of "Aleck" or of Shore, could not make me all shivery or thrill me to the core. The hits were light and scattering—I longed to hear the battering of Gowdy's slams ear-shattering and such like sounds of yore.

That Boston bunch were on their toes, they tapped the horsehide on the nose, but there was no resounding whack, no old-time Baker sort of crack—and as to Phillies' little taps, their weak and soft and feeble raps had scarcely steam enough to strain or dislocate a window pane. Far be it from this bard to knock such gentlemen as Burns and Stock or speak in anger or wrath of Paskert, Bancroft or Cravath—or, crossing to the Boston side, I wouldn't hurt their beanish pride, by saying aught that I should not of Hooper, Speaker, Shore or Scott, or any other two or three—BUT, I must say it seems to me, that in a series such as this both teams would find it not amiss, THIS exhibition to surpass and show some true world series class. I'm spoiled by former games maybe—but that's the way it looks to me!

PHILS' PREMIER DID AS COUNTED UPON TO PERFORM

Grover Cleveland Used Arm to Advantage When Hits Meant Runs to the Red Sox

BY FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 9.—A new Alexander looked pensively skyward today and sighed for new worlds to conquer.

As Alexander of old led his legions over fields of victory, so the new Alexander stands triumphant. He has swept all before him in his native bailiwick and subdued his latest enemy, the Boston Red Sox. His victory of yesterday is not without honor—far from it—but if the Phillies had fallen out of a balloon yesterday they probably would have landed in the United States mint or a diamond patch. They had every break of the game with them.

As a baseball game in which a real fan could get worked up and drown himself in a bottle of pop while choking on a sack of peanuts the initial tussle for the world's title was nix. But as an example of what can be done through the power of cunning of one man, aided by the "breaks," the game stands out as one of the historic tussles of the annual baseball classic. Alexander was long on the think stuff. His arm responded and when hits meant runs, the Red Sox were immediately cut from all speaking acquaintance with safe blows.

Grover Cleveland won a game in which he was nicked for eight hits while his team-mates gathered only five off young Shore. But the hits were scattered over an hour and fifty-eight minutes and came no oftener than one an inning. Also the very ball served by Shore which the Red Sox relied on to beat the Phillies, took a reverse English and was the ball that spelled defeat for the Boston crew.

Shore has a great fast ball. It is a "sinker." The ball sinks instead of rising as it comes to the plate, which is contrary to the habit of the fast balls of other pitchers. When this "sinker" is hit, the batter striking on top of it, the ball is driven into the dirt instead of being shot into the air.

Shore Used Wrong Ball

The dope was that Shore would rob the Phillies of their advantage of short fences because they would not be able to drive the ball skyward. The "sinker" worked just as was expected in this respect. There were only four outfield putouts for the Red Sox. But when the Philly batters drove the "sinker" into the dirt, the heavy field played a part and four dinky infield grounders won the game for the National league champions.

Along with the breaks Alexander was supreme in the pinches. Nine Red Sox were left stranded on the bases. The way was open for a run in every inning but the Boston batters could not find it.

Barry's Work Feature

Barry's stop of Bancroft's hit in the eighth inning was the feature performance of an otherwise colorless fielding game. The former Athletic's shortstop made a wonderful one-handed stab at the coast phenom's grass-cutter and brought it down. Scott was not at second, however, and a moment later another knock sent Bancroft over the pan with the run that clinched the game beyond a doubt.

From start to finish Alexander worked deliberately and with supreme confidence. He served up a total of 130 pitched balls to the plate. Of this number thirty-three were strikes. Thirty-eight of Alec's offerings were wide of the pan. Twenty were fouled off, some of these being converted into strikes. Of 29 blows in "fair" territory, eight fell safe and there were only six outfield putouts. The infield did the rest of the work in retiring the Red Sox aside from five strikeouts hung up by Alexander. The fifth was Alexander's fastest inning. Shore singled in this session, but the side was retired on five pitched balls.

Shore used 21 less pitched balls than Alexander, pitching 8½ innings. His total was 109. Of this number 43 were balls; 30 were strikes, 14 were fouled off and 22 were hit on the nose for outs or the five safeties the Phillies gathered.

PURPLE-MAROON BATTLE IS ONLY CONFERENCE GAME

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The Northwestern-Chicago U game at Evanston was today's only inter-conference gridiron battle and the one toward which middle western interest turned. Whatever the result, everyone believed the clash would produce a real scrap. Northwestern is just a little bit stronger than usual this year, and Coach Stagg's charges are not believed to be up to Chicago U form. The dope points to the Maroons as winners.

"KOP" TO ENTERTAIN BASEBALL STARS

The members of the all-star Federal league, including our own Eddie Konetchy, and the W. B. U. Athletes will be the guests of Manager F. L. Koppelberger at the first performance at the Majestic Sunday night.

The first exhibition game was played at League park this afternoon before a crowd of fans who refused to let the excitement of a world's series dampen their enthusiasm. The treat of seeing some of the best men in baseball in real action proved an attraction that few of the real fans could resist.

The final exhibition game will be played tomorrow afternoon.

HOME TOWN IS FOR ALEXANDER

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 9. — The people of St. Paul, Neb., have just an ordinary interest in the outcome of the world's series, but the entire resources of the town and county, amounting to some millions, is available at odds of 10 to 7 on Philadelphia in every game in which Grover works. Nobody could bet against Alexander the Great in St. Paul and get away with his life, hence the offer to the outside world. Address any St. Paul bank or business house.

SCALPERS PICKED UP

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 9.—While the national commission was investigated the world series ticket scandal here, the hundred odd scalpers who infest Philadelphia continued today to offer for sale, at fabulous prices, hundreds of reserved tickets.

Seventeen were picked up by the police with more than $1,000 worth of the pasteboards.

They threaten to tell the names of the persons from whom they secured the tickets.

Optimistic Thought.
Nothing dries sooner than a tear.

FORMER BADGERS WITH THE PHILS

Three Wisconsin boys are taking part in the world's series, and all of them are with the Phillies. Fred Luderus of Milwaukee, is holding down first for the Phils, Milton Stock of Fond du Lack, is covering third and Bancroft is taking care of short.

Before Stock went on the field on Friday he received a telegram from his Fond du Lac friends, which read:

"Congratulations and best wishes from the Fond du Lac fans. Regards to Luderus and Bancroft."

Stock played with the Fond du Lac team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league in 1911. Luderus graduated from the Milwaukee sandlots to the Freeport team, and Bancroft formerly was with Superior.

HOLD GARDEN FESTIVAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—A suffrage garden festival is being held today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Untermeyer at Greystone-on-the-Hudson. Opera singers sang songs. The music ended with everybody singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Margaret Dreier Robins and Miss Mary Garrett Hay, made speeches. Tickets were $5 each. The proceeds will go to the suffrage party and the German-American suffrage committee.

NORMAL DEBATING SOCIETY BEGINS ACTIVE SEASON

The Eclectic Debating society of the Normal held its first regular meeting of the year last night in the Y. W. C. A. room. A large amount of experienced material was on hand to apply for membership, consequently the outlook is extremely bright.

The program for the evening was varied. J. R. Moore spoke on the demand for the modern orators, incidentally stirring the members to greater activity for the honor of the society. Miss Selma Simonson and Mr. Ludwig Widrick favored the audience with piano solos. A few hours in the secret session were devoted to initiating ten new members, the men having been warned in the morning to come clad in their roughest apparel.

On Wednesday evening the Websterians met for the first time and they too started off with a rousing meeting. Prof. H. N. Sherwood talked to the boys concerning matters of forensic work as the main attraction of the evening. No members were initiated at this meeting but a large number were voted in and will be given the work next time. Songs by the society and speeches of welcome concluded the program.

Keep Your Eyes on the Store Windows

The public eye likes interesting sights. And next week—beginning Monday—the city will be full of them. They will be in the show windows of the enterprising merchants.

They will be in the garb of near and dear friends—friends introduced to you through the advertising columns of the newspapers of this city.

The Show Window Display is part of a continent-wide demonstration in the interest of better business.

Just as the merchants of this city are vieing with each other, so is the city as a whole in competition with hundreds of other cities in the United States and Canada.

On behalf of the merchants and the newspapers we invite you to inspect the store windows next week.

The Store Windows Will Be Well Worth Seeing

CHURCH NEWS

Presbyterians In Important Step

Presbyterians of New York have voted to take an important step in administration of poor funds, and in assisting men out of work in times of financial stress to maintain themselves and their families. After careful study of the subject they find, they say, that large numbers of churches are unable to handle the poor question when times get hard, and that the only solution is to provide that churches of the whole city act together. They propose to create a common fund, the larger the better, and to do this when times are good. Then when conditions become acute, the fund is to be drawn upon by the weak churches.

The same committee that made the study reported, and the New York Presbytery has endorsed the stand, that the charitable societies cannot handle the situation as well as the churches. Hence the decision to place Presbyterian responsibility upon Presbyterian churches. To discharge it there is proposed a Presbyterian Deacon's association, that shall enter upon the collection of the fund, shall be responsible for its maintenance, and then take in hand when occasion arises the distribution of money in the name of the church. Work shops for the unemployed are part of the plan.

American Missionary Ass'n To Readjust Its Work

The American Missionary Association, educational and other help for Esquimaus, Negroes, Indians and other dependent peoples, maintained by Congregationalists, is readjusting its work, especially that for Negroes, because it has $1,000,000 coming to it within a few weeks to back up that work. This money was made in the development of aluminum, C. K. Hall, who died not long ago at Niagara Falls, made it, and besides the $1,000,000 to Negro education, he gave $1,000,000 to Berea college, Kentucky, there to help white people, and $3,000,000 to Oberlin university whose work is well known. The association will make report on its new plans at New Haven.

This New Haven meeting is the national council of all Congregationalists. This council has changed its plans and now meets every second year of every third. It seems to be agreed that the chief readjustment of Congregational benevolences to be made at New Haven will affect the Building society, the Home Mission society, and the State societies. The change will be in the nature of closer co-operation, the aim being to secure efficiency, and save expense. Educational plans, proposed some time ago, may be considered, but are said not to be likely to be acted on at this time.

Big Brother Movement Spreads to 97 Cities

The Big Brother Movement has now spread to ninety-seven cities in the United States and Canada. This movement started in New York. Its founder was E. K. Coulter, then in the court, but now head of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. It has been in large part the promoter of the Children's court plan, so general now in many cities. In most cities Big Brothers come from the ranks of lawyers, bankers, brokers, and foremost business men, often from the ranks of the busiest men of the city. Numbers of such Big Brothers range from 50 to 700 in a city, and in the whole country there are not fewer than 25,000 men who are regularly helping boys.

The work, spread in some cities to Big Sisters also, is to look after down and out boys, to get them employment, to provide them homes and as far as possible education, and when in trouble from the law or otherwise, to insure proper treatment and as soon as may be to put them on their feet. At least 40,000 boys in the country are helped each year. The work started among Protestants, but is now extending to Roman Catholics. Some time ago it was taken up by the Jews. Co-operation in most cities is had with Y. M. C. A., gymnasiums in churches, and fresh air and other funds. Like the Bernardo Homes of London, the Big Brothers are multiplying the number of prosperous men throughout the country who began, many hardly know where.

Events In The War One Year Ago Today

Antwerp fell at 9 a. m. and was occupied by the Germans at 2:30 p. m. King Albert and his army fled to safety. Three British naval brigades tried to save the city.

French-German artillery battles at Lillie and Arras continued. German attacked viciously on Meuse heights. The French progressed some at St. Mihiel, yet Germany also reported progress there and in the Argonne. German forces retreated before Russians at Lyck, and at Ivangorod and Sandomir on the Vistula there are violent artillery duels, Petrograd reported.

Rome says Portugal will declare war on Germany; and that German reinforcements are being rushed to East Prussia.

Harbors on the Adriatic.

The principal gulfs of the Adriatic are those of Manfredonia on the west, Venice and Trieste on the north, and Quarnero on the northeast. There are numerous and admirable bay harbors extending from Fiume and culminating in the wonderful landlocked harbor, the Bocche di Cattaro. The Strait of Otranto, where Italy approaches nearest to the Balkan mainland, is 45 miles wide. Here is the magnificent Albanian harbor, Avlona.

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN FOR INDIGESTION OR BAD STOMACH

Relieves sourness, gas, Heartburn, Dyspepsia in five minutes.

Sour, gassy, upset stomach, indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia; when the food you eat ferments into gases and stubborn lumps; your head aches and you feel sick and miserable, that's when you realize the magic in Pape's Diapepsin. It makes all stomach misery vanish in five minutes.

If your stomach is in a continuous revolt—if you can't get it regulated, please, for your sake, try Pape's Diapepsin. It's so needless to have a bad stomach—make your next meal a favorite food meal, then take a little Diapepsin. There will not be any distress—eat without fear. It's because Pape's Diapepsin "really does" regulate weak, out-of-order stomachs that gives it its millions of sales annually.

Get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. It is the quickest, surest stomach relief and cure known. It acts almost like magic—it is a scientific, harmless and pleasant stomach preparation which truly belongs in every home.

WE CLOSED OUT CITY MILLS recently for the reason that our Mr. Yeo after thirty-eight years of active engagement in this line of business in this city, is too advanced in years to much longer continue as its active miller and manager, and the other members of the firm are in other business. During our career as owners and operators of this Mill we have kept it equipped with the latest improvement in milling machinery so that the goods turned out have been of the highest quality, and we have enjoyed a large patronage in the city, for which we feel grateful. We closed the Mill with everything in first class condition so that in a few days it could be started again turning out the same class of goods as before. The Mill is now for sale and in our opinion there is no better or more profitable business in this city than this, and at the price at which it could be purchased for, just now it surely is a safe investment and will not be on the market long. There are many reasons why the Mill should be kept in operation. The most important of which is that it is an industry of the city employing several men, and as it uses largely of local grain makes a market for the farmers bringing them to the city, and located as it is the entire output can be disposed of to local consumers at a good profit.

We have put the Mill in the hands of Lewis Bros. to sell, and any information can be obtained from them or from Wm. Yeo, 330 North Seventh street. To anyone interested we will say now is the time to take hold of this business so that this Mill can do its share on this crop, which is the best and most abundant this country has ever known.

ROCKEFELLER IS CHEERED WHEN HE PRAISES FATHER

DENVER, Oct. 9.—Nothing in John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s, twenty day visit to Colorado, to be closed with his departure for New York today, made such an impression as the tribute he paid his father in an address at the chamber of commerce luncheon yesterday.

"The word fear is not in father's vocabulary," said young Rockefeller, "and yet he has the gentleness and tenderness of a woman. Criticized, maligned and condemned these many years, he holds in his heart nothing but good will toward every man."

The applause that greeted this sentiment was exceeded only by handclapping for five minutes when Rockefeller, Jr., said:

"There is one thing that must never happen again in the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, and that is a strike. Wantonly, wasteful of human life and properties, no parties in interest are benefited but all are seriously injured."

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, Price, 75c. per bottle.

NEGRO FOLK MUSIC AND SONGS FIRST MUSIC CLUB BILL

Notable Engagemen t That of Mrs. Collingwood Tucker Who Appears at Masonic Temple

PATRONAGE MEANS MORE TREATS

If Attendance is Sufficient ta Meet Expenses Other Rare Artists Will Be Engaged

The Music Study club feel they are very fortunate in being able to secure Mrs. Collingwood Tucker, a very gifted and brilliant southern woman who gives a most charming lecture-recital of negro folk music and plantation songs.

We are all so proud of the negro music and have so few opportunities of hearing it that we should be happy for this opportunity to be instructed by one who has made a study of this music, much of which has never ben printed or is not in print at present.

It is said of Mrs. Tucker's recitals that aside from their genuine value and interest in other respects, they are full of the mingled humor and pathos which distinguishes all the music of the negro.

If the Music Study club is sufficiently encouraged by the reception given Mrs. Tucker's recital, they will feel justified in bringing other entertainments of the same high standard.

Mrs. Tucker's recital will be given at the Masonic Temple Wednesday evening, October 13 and seats are now on sale at Hebberd's drug store. Price fifty cents. Or they can be secured from any member of the club.

INDIAN IN SPARTA ON HIKE EATING FOOD CAPSULES

Clarence White Eagle of Comanche Trble Will Try to Win Big Wager for Hike to Coast

NO HEAT AND SCHOOLS CLOSE

Battery of Oil Stoves Fail to Furnish Warmth While Heating Plant Is Being Installed

SPARTA, Wis., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—In order to ascertain whether he could live on a condensed food which he himself invented, Clarence White Eagle, a Comanche Indian from Fort Sill, Oklahoma, who outwalked two white men who could not subsist on the red man's concoction, passed through Sparta yesterday from the Oklahoma point to the Pacific coast, by way of Chicago.

Clarence White Eagle walked from Fort Sill to Chicago in exactly two months, according to the story told here to a crowd of curious yesterday. He saw the sights of the "windy city" and left Chicago Septembers 18, "hiking much all time," he said.

The Indian is walking on a wager of $1,000, which he believed he will win. The food he eats is a small capsule, quantities of which he carries in a pack on his back. Two white men, he claims, started on the trip with him, but were forced to quit the hike.

Schools Close

Sparta public schools have been forced to close to await the complete installation of the new heating plant, being put in the ward building and in the high school. The work was begun shortly before school started this fall and another week will elapse before the plant is in working order. A battery of oil stoves placed in the buildings failed to furnish enough warmth.

Local and Personal

Mrs. Zero Palmer of the soldiers' home at Waupaca, is visiting friends in Sparta.

Mayor McMillan has been appointed by Governor Philipp on the state committee for the defense of the National Security league.

Mrs. M. Cramer of Wilton was up to Sparta yesterday.

John Short was up from Wilton on business yesterday.

COUNTRY 'INVADED' WHEN ADMIRAL FLETCHER LOSES

War Game Ends with the Attacking Fleet Landing in the Chesapeake

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The United States has been invaded. The attacking fleet in the big naval war game effected a landing in Delaware bay this morning.

The war game ended today and the whole fleet, including victorious invaders and defeated defenders, is enroute to Newport.

Admiral Fletcher, commanding the defending forces, "inflicted serious losses," on the invaders. Although defeated, the tactics of the defenders were the subject of satisfaction.

The invaders were satisfied with affecting a landing on Delaware bay, technically capturing Philadelphia and nearby cities and the League Island navy yard.

With this victory they rested, not pushing expeditionary forces into the interior.

THREE BURGLARIES LAID AGAINST TWO CAPTURED HERE

Garage Robberies as Well as Theft of Auto They Drove Here Charged by Mill City Deputies

Three garage robberies as well as the theft of the car in which they were captured here were laid against Edward Chamberlain and Victor Carlson by two Minneapolis deputy sheriffs who came here this morning to take the two youths and the machine back to the Mill City. A. A. Buck, one of the deputies, set out immediately after his arrival to drive the car back. A. H. Contour, the other deputy, took the prisoners back on the train this morning.

Chamberlain and Carlson waived extradition and went back with the deputy without demur. That at one of the places entered the pair stole $300 worth of automobile tires, Montour and Buck told the police.

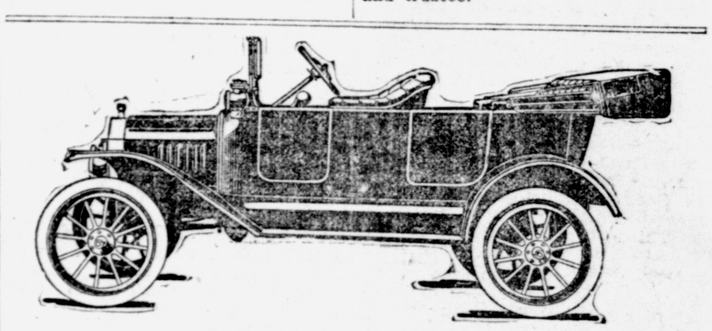

The tires were traced to Milwaukee, whither they had been shipped by the two, it is alleged. The Minneapolis deputies believe Carlson and Chamberlain were enroute in the stolen car to claim the tires.
